LEGEND

JUNE 1958

WEEQUAHIC HIGH SCHOOL

Newark, New Jersey

The Most Precious

As I look at you now, I wonder at the mystery of time. I have not yet learned your face, though I have shared these years with you.

We ran across the years so eagerly, we could not know what had slipped away.

Is it possible to move more swiftly than time itself? I have fused my mind and my youthful spirit with yours. We have grown together in the vision of sunlight and love.

Time tells me now that you must go your separate way. Do not go alone now — take my hand — come move on with me.

TO OUR MRS. CHOSNEY...

She has borne our child-like ways for four full years — slow to anger, quick to praise, eager to work, and loving always. She has watched us stumble and sometimes fall, knowing that we would find strength from her faith. Through our dreams, hopes, tears, and laughter, she saw the ever-nearing promise of tomorrow.

Though we are yet young, we are now older. Our tomorrow lies only a moment away. In grateful appreciation of her constant faith and trust, the Class of June 1958, now dedicates this last moment before tomorrow to Mrs. Eugenia Chosney.

APPRAISERS

JULIUS C. BERNSTEIN

PRINCIPAL

Now that you have reached the end of the string of precious days that you have spent together here at Weequahic High School, you are better able to look back upon the golden hours that have held them together and you can appreciate more fully their true value.

That which is precious is not only rare, but it is also durable. I hope that the precious riches which you have gained here will also be durable: your education, your friends and classmates, and happy memories of the faculty of the school. My sincerest wishes go with you for a diamond-studded future.

CONSTANCE D. BOWERMAN

Vice Principal

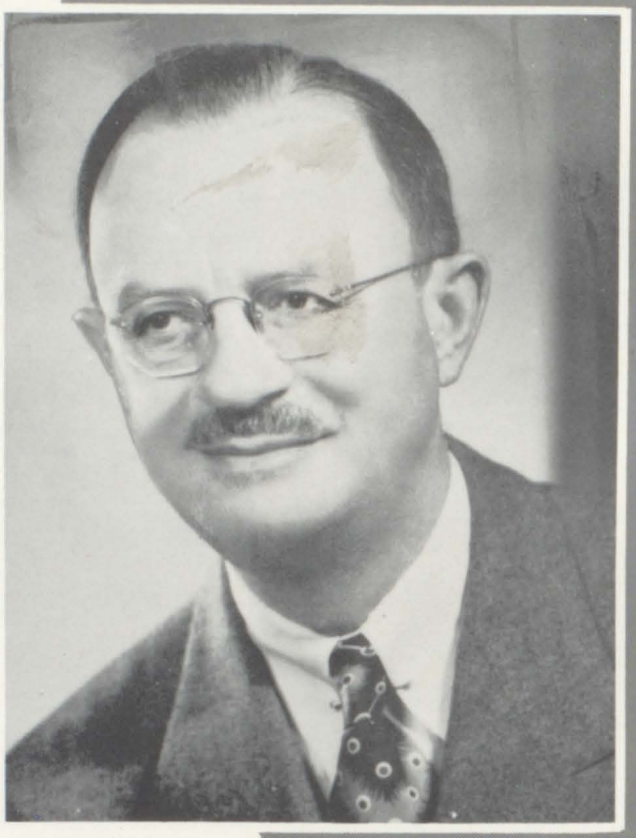

IRVING J. GOLDBERG

Administrative Assistant to the Principal

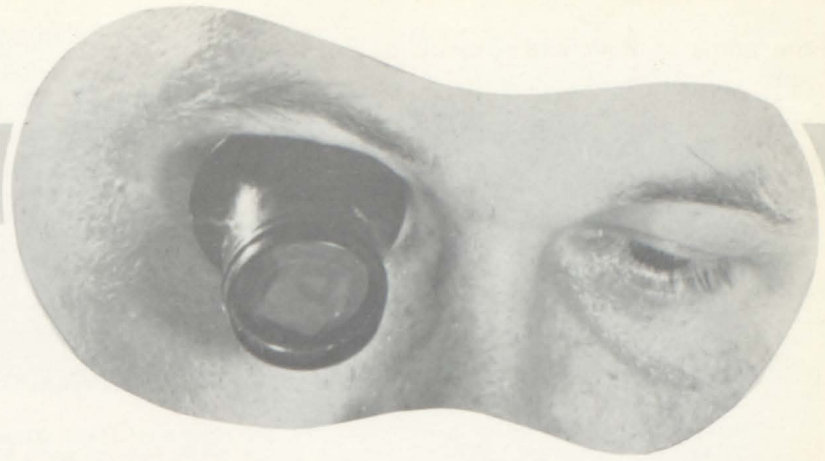

Good name in man and woman, dear my lord,
Is the immediate jewel of their souls.

— William Shakespeare

MAX J. HERZBERG

With his coming it began.
The master and his master plan.
He came into an empty place
And made of it a thing of grace.
He came when all about was naught
And filled it with the pow'r of thought.
Undismayed by classrooms bare,
He put a warm tradition there.
Where there was but an empty shell,
He made a school and made it well.
He was the first, but not the last;
He formed the future in the past.
And though he's gone, rest he denies,
For he still watches from the skies.

A homeroom is a composite. It has the disposition of a storm, the energy of a nuclear war-head, the voice of a demagogue, the enthusiasm of fireworks, and the audacity of Hades. A homeroom is Truth with a bit of copying, Beauty with bobbysox, Wisdom with chaos, and Hope with a rejected lab. A homeroom is a dictator. It is a smiling-faced teacher — a chasing bundle of confusion and noise.

Homerooms are found everywhere — atop, underneath, inside, and climbing, running, jumping. Homeroom teachers love them, other teachers hate them, principals tolerate them, other homerooms ignore them, and heaven protects them. When the homeroom teacher is busy, a homeroom is an inconsiderate, almost loathsome clamor. When it needs to make a good impression, its brain stops functioning or it becomes a wild, obnoxious, jungle creature bent on self-destruction.

A homeroom likes privacy, noise, Fridays, study periods, the homeroom teacher, and 8:30. It dislikes Mondays, assemblies, the 8:25 bell, notices, or quiet.

No other organization known to man can cram into a few minutes history, English and chemistry homework, conversations, descriptions of television programs, and about ten assorted notices.

And the homeroom teacher? He can lock the door but he can't lock his own out of his heart. He can run them out of the room but he can't run them out of his mind.

JUDSON'S JASPERS, Model No. 1

YOU WERE HERE! — in Homeroom 1

Walter Klondike: In answer to the current demand for basic scientific research, You Were Here today presents a report of our recent survey into the behavior of that rare class of animals (only thirty-two extant) called studentus homeroomus oneus.

One of our reporters, John Cameron Krayze, is on hand at the ground floor habitat of this species. Come in, John.

John Cameron Krayze: It is now 8:20. Homeroom one, where the studentus homeroomus oneus thrives, is buzzing with its customary activity. It is hard to imagine now that twenty minutes ago this cubicle was deserted.

Looking about, I observe Joel Braverman, New York Times agent, at once giving Harvey Altman today's paper and trying to convince Dave Goss to subscribe. Rivaling him is Calumet agent, Eddie Parness, who persuades Cindy Greenstein and Murray Heller to buy their school newspaper. Legend Assistant Business Manager Stephen S. Schwartz and homeroom Advertising Agent Meri Kurz are diligently soliciting ads from Bobby Schreiber, who pays no attention but continues talking about the stock market to Mickey Stern. The two Lennies, Furer and Stone, conceal their money as Lois Gottfried starts making the rounds for "another worthy cause." Paradoxically and simultaneously, Harold Gabel, homeroom banker, is convincing members of his class to save money by starting a bank account. That's the picture here. I will now switch you to John Weekly on the other side of the room.

John Weekly: Thank you, John. Along with Mary Lou Gandy and Florence Rogers, I have been viewing the antics of Sandy Kleiman and Billy Ginsburg. Phyllis Mandel, Charlotte Golum, and Fredda Kriegsfeld are discussing their respective weekends. But Shelly Simon and Norman Willis are vigorously debating only a sports record. Neal Goldman and Allan Greenberg, arduously poring over their calculus books, remain oblivious to the excitement about them.

(R-i-i-n-n-g-g).

That bell seems to be a signal. Everyone is rushing to his seat. Having concluded important student council business, OBA President Irving Marcus bursts through the door. Breathless Carol Sassiver trails in after him.

Dave Saltman, homeroom chairman, calls the class to order; Elayne Schapira piously intones a psalm and energetically leads the salute to the flag; Barbara Silberman, homeroom secretary, takes the attendance and announces the absentees. The president of the class, Walter Uhrman, and the treasurer, Mal Holzman, report the doings of the class council.

The species is now returning to its noisy and aimless, but interesting activity. Miss Judson, homeroom teacher and fond keeper, calls for silence which lasts ten seconds.

(R-i-i-n-n-g-g).

This bell, ringing at 8:40, signals an exodus. The studentus homeroomus oneus leave their nest to begin the day's work and face untold adventures.

Walter Klondike: This has been a day like all days, filled with those events which alter and illuminate our time — and YOU WERE HERE!

FRANCES B. JUDSON

MAZAICA'S MOONSTONES, Model No. 104

The moonstone has a most delicate hue
With a sparkle that shines all the way through.
Our homeroom has a glow that will always last;
Our devilishness and fun cannot be surpassed.

The warning bell informs us it is 8:25.
(This means Ellen Burakof will soon arrive.)
Michele is then seen in the midst of a gang
Wondering if the bell really rang.
With much emotion the Bible is read
By Jerry Samuels the flag salute's led.
The notices are read above the din of the boys,
While Rhoda Stern, our chairman, tries to settle the noise.

Gary takes the attendance with precision and care
While an eraser is thrown at him through the air.
Steve Schwartz and Neil Resnick are the culprits it seems.
What is the reason for their devilish schemes?
Norman is seen talking to Heidi Mantell
Trying to decide why the Times won't sell.
Class dues are requested next, we all hear.
Archie and Ira, at that disappear.

Barry Neidorf is seen in his solid gold shirt
Trying to decide with which girl to flirt.
Myrna and Joan attempt to go out to the hall
But are stopped by our teacher's warning call.
Sheri and Fran may be seen running around
Because their homework cannot be found.
Despina Toyas in the corner we see
Doing her homework as quietly as can be.
Helene and Margie have announcements to make
Concerning class events in which we should partake.
Sylvia Kaufman looks for her glasses with care —
She has her old ones but she wants her new pair.
Helen and Rose Marie discuss last night's dates
And try to decide how each other's boy rates.
Brenda sits and meditates at her seat,
And Aaron nearly tumbles over her feet.
Harvey can be seen pulling up the shade,
While "Boobie" seeks the Spanish error she's made.

REGINA K. MAZAICA

Sanford and Janet come in with the unexpected news
That next year our football team will not lose.
Shelly Blecker notices that Mrs. Mazaica is sad
For she thinks, as usual, our class is quite bad.
We are told to converse is a quieter way —
"Just as Linda Zimmerman is doing," she'd say.
The following moment is unusually still,
And our neighbors enjoy a unique thrill.

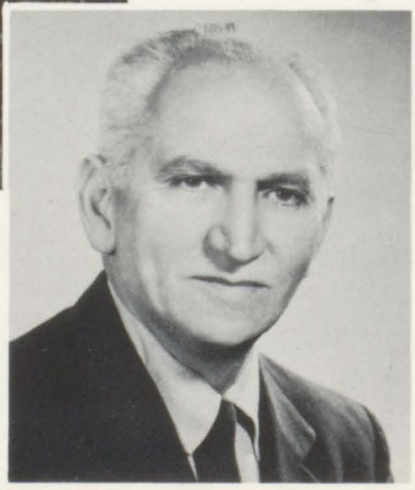

In this moment of silence we have more than one thought
Of the knowledge, fun, and friendship we've wrought.
The silence is broken by a whisper at the rear,
And it is apparent that noise is about near.
It was great to start off the day with such fun.
We had time to laugh but we got our work done.
As precious as the moonstone, our days in 104,
They will stay in our memories — forevermore.

CHASEN'S CHIAMITAS, Model No. 123

No gems can be seen on land or at sea
That are brighter than those found in 123.
Sparkling, bright, cheerful, and gay.
Join us in our homeroom on a typical day.
At 8:24 there's hurry and scurry
As Bernie Greenwald calls the roll in a rush,
Schimmer and Frenchman find their seats, all a-flurry,
While Sue Platnick fusses with her comb and brush.
Ruthie and Judy are two cute girls
Discussing boys with handsome brown curls,
Their hands are as nimble in basketball
As are their feet in the dancing hall.
A loud moan is heard from Howard Kroll
As Anita Finkel calls the money roll.
New York Times and class dues both must be paid,
Our homeroom is in need of financial aid!
Shirley and Phyllis discuss an Irvington House date,
As Eddie Ziering and Ronnie Rosenberg rush in qu'te late.
Harlene Gelman's powder causes Mr. Chasen to sneeze
As he shouts, "Alan Cooperman, the windows, please!"
Judy Epstein, her gossip to Evi Feld does relate,
While Gilbert Kadis seeks an eternal mate.
Class Councilman Lipton keeps the class up to date
And tells us in which committees to participate.

Milton Armm gives it just one more stab,
As he tries to finish his latest chem lab.
Advice from Sandy Levitt is ejected,
But Milton's labs are still rejected.
Tamara Gordon, studious and demure,
Gives her opinion of Geraldine's latest coiffure.
"The beauty parlor is the only way,"
Says Maxine Lucas as she saves the day.
To have worries in math for Marlene Martin is silly,
And to get good marks is no trouble for Billy.
But Mike Kampf has a method that's sure to win:
No homework and good marks is the plan for him.
To the lyrics of Connie Lordi's favorite song,
Howard Cohen wonders where he went wrong.
While driving is among his many woes,
Our Connie sings, A Rose Between Her Toes.
Casting, knit one, purl two,
We hope Joyce will soon be through.
Like the rest, cousins Jackie and Carol Modell
Are waiting to hear the passing bell.
Although we began as jewels in the rough,
Polishing us up hasn't been too tough.
Our humble beginning in 123
Will always remain a precious memory.

SIMON CHASEN

SILBER'S SAPPHIRES
Model No. 202

We consider our homeroom one of the best,
We set it aside from all the rest.
First comes Judy Cohen and she's walking on air,
Then comes Edith with few minutes to spare.
As the moments go by, (They are slow-moving, too.)
You see Howie Tureff, banker, with nothing to do.
Elaine Rosenblum is never late,
But when she comes in, she preaches of weight.
Paul Stein likes using the locked back door,
But comes June 18th, he won't any more.
Charles is the agent for the "Times,"
He collects our hard-earned dimes.
Davita is a good example. She does well.
Yvette and Toby talk and break this spell.
The homeroom bell rings and no one is rushing.
Sue Shill collects money without ever blushing.
Up steps our Chairlady, Ellen Rose,
What she will say, nobody knows.
Our secretary is Beverly Cooper
Who does her job without a blooper.
Ritz and Ellis are friends we do know
They talk in homeroom from the word "go."
Our gay Class Council member is Joan Burrell,
She's friends with Gail and they both are swell.
Robert Heistein sells us the "Calumet,"
A hundred per cent sale he can always get.
Jayne Stang is forever combing her hair,
And Thomas Gonzales wears shirts hard to bear.
Sydney Barnett chews gum constantly,
While Marvin Rous can never agree.
Next to each other are Paula and Jean,
Smiles on their faces are always seen.
Howie, Rita and Charles all have red hair,
Were they near each other you'd start and stare.
Derek Hulse though his name is last,
Will be liked in the future as in the past.
Mr. Silber, our teacher, we think is great,
His guidance and care we appreciate.

WILLIAM C. SILBER

HILDA G. LUTZKE

LUTZKE'S LAZULITES
Model No. 207

"Hey, Cousin Max, how's about letting me read the notices?" In the little world of Homeroom 207, our chairman, George Rothbard, can always be heard quieting the class, while Jerry Max succeeds in getting us noisy again.

During one of the rare moments of silence, Bruno Niethe announces that the Class Council requires an additional sum of money for class activities. At this point, Janet Spain and Rose Spera stand up and begin to lecture Joan Gerstl, an innocent stander-by, on the rise of the cost of living.

In a small huddle in the back of the room, Johnnie Graves, Perry Koonce, Allan Rubin, and Robert Lowyns perusing the sports section of the paper in hopes of determining who will represent the U.S. at next year's Olympics. Ina Schanerman and Barbara Spiegel confer on the trials and tribulations of the Legend Advertising Staff as Janet Novick tries to collect pictures for the Legend over the din of talk by Gloria Loterstein, Paula Rosen, and Harriet Lerner. Marty Krupp and Alan Keselman say good-bye to their daily morning visitors as Rose Cherny rises to read the Bible. Mrs. Lutzke asks for a volunteer new banker since Joel Miller has resigned. Mike Moroze volunteers the services of Irwin Cohen who promptly declines. Carol Grosman collects vast sums of money from our all-too-generous homeroom. Eleanor Terry, Hyman Kusnetz and William Walker sneak in as the last bell rings, for a second floor homeroom is a long way from old "102." The New York Times are distributed by Howard Nacht and reading is immediately begun by Bernie Goldberg. The latest photographs of their activities are compared by Elizabeth Holmes and Pearl McCloud as Steve Rosenfeld and Jon Tester are busily trying to complete their homework before homeroom ends.

The bell rings and with a mad rush, Homeroom 207 departs into another day.

EDITH G. GLUCKSMAN

GLUCKSMAN'S GARNETS
Model No. 210

It's about 8:20 A.M. on any morning. Homeroom 210 is almost empty. Mrs. Glucksman looks about at the empty desks as she takes care of the details for the usually busy day. A few people start to drift in; many more stand outside guarding the door. The warning bell sounds! The wanderers are returning!

Joshua Gordon circles the room trying to remember who gets a newspaper. Lynda Goldberg and Mel Jacobson are having their morning chat. Others are running across the room searching for that "lost assignment."

Our visitors from down the hall must leave to make room for the last stragglers who are now returning. "Oh, to be back in room 114," we pant, gasping for air. Those extra stairs make it too easy to be late in the morning. Ask Fran Garfinkel.

As the bell rings, Roz Fein checks to see if each Garnet has returned to its case, while Joel Bodnar, Bible in hand, vies for attention. As Mrs. Glucksman concludes the reading of the notices, Saul Markowitz calmly asks, "Is there a committee meeting today?"

Perry Goldman wants to know, "Who wants their tassels?" But Melinda Salz brushes him aside with news of the last Class Council meeting. Hands fly frantically as the Garnets want that long, long list of dates re-read for the twentieth time. Mrs. Glucksman, with the help of her little bell, demands quiet.

Everyone tries to be invisible as Phil LaFon brings his collection envelope up and down the aisles. The Chem Lab Blues hover over Sue Weinick, Myron Weinstein, and Warren Sommer, — and these are not all.

Murray Wolkstein is trying to believe that he is really of the Top Ten. Bob Bennett is looking to the University of Chicago while Micki Miller and Ellen Reingold are still looking for their baby pictures. Meanwhile, Joe Menker is tapping out a hot beat as Roberta Kaduck wishes for quiet to concentrate on her sketch. Nibs Weiss' mind is occupied with millions of worries about the next issue of the Calumet.

Math problems perplex Russell Borkowsky while Carol Schildkret's sigh shows how glad she is to be done with them. Today's history test bothers Joyce Altschuler and Rosalie Hurewitz, but Thelma Friedland is more concerned with her French and Spanish classes.

Gary Kuperman and Eddie Rosengold exalt the virtues of their cars. Al Lane and David Wheeler discuss the newest neighborhood rumors.

We get a quick reminder to be at the "210 Den" on March 28. The bell rings. And another day begins.

RHODES' RHODONITES, Model No. 215

ANNE B. RHODES

Martin Henick holds the key that unlocks our most valuable possession: room 215. Upon entering the room, he trips over two sleeping beauties, Bryna Cohn and Dorene Bank.

Spies sent from an alien homeroom enter to gossip with Fran Rothenberg. Disturbing Larry Goldberg's mental calculations, in cartwheels Janet Ehrenkranz. Arthur Abt and Gerry Adelsohn shine the medals they received for not leaving their seats once during the term.

Trumpets blare as Sandy Farber, our quiz-kid, marches in to announce the details of the class council meeting. A moving stack labeled New York Times slides into the homeroom. As the papers are distributed, we find Merle Fruchterman under the heap.

At 8:25 the bell rings. All heads are turned towards the door, for any minute a familiar figure will come charging in—Anita Brown crying over her chemistry.

By now, the noise has subsided to a deafening roar, and John Davis is able to conduct the opening exercises. Claire Mayers counts bobbing heads as Paul Goff robs our lunch money for some unknown cause.

Howie Sharenow and Ronnie Sheetz are too busy discussing the latest basketball game to hear Barry Wiernik read the notices.

Cookie Hoffman and Blanche Cooperman serenade us with their theme song Letters, We Get Letters (and they're not from Perry!) The two girls do not seem to bother Marilyn Fisher who is planning her outfit for Saturday night. Perched on their soap boxes are Sam Dodek and Sandy Cook engaging in a heated discussion about whose car drags better.

A blood-curdling scream followed by a triple fracture are signals that Marguerite Huntley has just dropped her ten-ton purse on Larry Weiss' foot. Refereeing the verbal match that follows are Gary Wallin and Pat Kozuszko. A lonely figure wanders up and down the aisles. It is our own "Blackie" Fromkin, searching for old homework assignments. He manages only to locate Joe Schaefer.

Mood music provided by Faithe Lurie accompanies Phyllis Adler's lecture about the intestinal tract of her prize patient.

The 8:40 bell has rung. We're on our way into the day but one of our Rhodonites is missing. Mrs. Rhodes must interrupt Agnes Smith's cha-cha class. And then we're on our way.

O'CONNOR'S OPALS
Model No. 219

MARIE E. O'CONNOR

Here we are at the realm of the "O'Connor Clan," which is more commonly referred to as homeroom 219. Here serenity and tranquility reign supreme.

Upon entering the room, we spy Barry Kirstein hastily completing last night's homework, but he is shortly interrupted by jovial Rufus Smith, who enters precisely at eight o'clock. Shortly after, the arrival of Billy Tucker and Richie Cahn leads to a vehement discussion of future successes on Weequahic's athletic fields. Their optimistic outlook is shortlived, for Sam Balk approaches, slide rule in hand, reminding them that the derivative of the index of games won by the Indians is negligible. At this moment, sweet and gentle voices are heard. These are the voices of several distaff members of the "Clan" who enter, deposit their books, and immediately flee to the "powder room" where gossip is freely exchanged. As they scamper off, we identify the triumvirate of Sharon Guttman, Lila Goldstein, and Sue Mann.

It is later now, and the room is gradually filling with familiar faces. As we look to one corner, we view Paula Lozinsky, who is constantly reminding us that graduation is rapidly approaching and Helena "New York Times" Kalifon, who is busily engaged distributing the morning papers. Meanwhile, the shrill voice of Rhoda Hochberg is heard pleading for more Legend ads. In the rear of our domain, Joe de Hagara is in the act of performing several Herculean feats, while enthusiastic Harold Mogelefsky, uttering syllables of amazement, watches. Nearby is Harvey Marans colorfully describing his adventures in Cuba to Arty Feinstein, who is painstakingly combing his hair.

The time is 8:25 and Sharon Lear strolls into 219 applying her make-up to the heavy beat of a Rock 'n Roll tune. Arriving soon after is Ellen Neiss, who explains the merits of "going steady" to "Man of the World" Friedlander. Saul Kaplan stares unbelievingly at Janice Krusch's desk where a slip of paper assessing the highest library fine in Weequahic's history is to be found. Presently, Ralph Cavallo is seen fascinating Carole Fried with his extensive knowledge of the Public Service bus lines (in fluent "Uppy Duppy" . . . what a man!!)

At 8:28, Rose Lee trots in with a handful of water for the irrigation of the homeroom plants, which have now evolved into cacti. One minute passes and Lynne Freling begins to distribute the Calumets, whereupon Joyce Figueroa reminds her that she owes an absence excuse. With the ringing of the bell comes the arrival of Bernie Eisenfeld and Julian Decter, who are putting the finishing touches on their plans to bomb the College Board Center in Princeton.

After the completion of the opening exercises, Marlene Liscio begs for attention as she reads the notices. Billy Ertag reveals the astonishing progress of the Class Council. Finally Henrietta Lerner, our attendance monitor, informs Miss O'Connor that there is 100% "physical" attendance.

The homeroom period passes quickly, and at 8:40 all of the members of the "Clan" depart for their individual classes, each with a warm feeling of comradeship partially due to the friendships we have made, and partially due to the guiding hand of Miss O'Connor.

CHERLIN'S CAIRNGORMS Model No. 221

MARY CHERLIN

"Cherlin's Cairngorms! What's a cairngorm?" asked Louie Fromkin of homeroom 221. Nobody answered. Nobody knew. Even Mrs. Cherlin didn't know, and they were her cairngorms.

"It should've been Cherlin's Charmers," said Ruth Fairberg, thinking of her homeroom sisters.

"It should've been Cherlin's Chumps," remarked one grouch.

"Nah," interjected Gary Barna, "Cherlin's Champs is better." (Could he have been thinking of the track stars, Ray Rio and Ira Polonsky?)

Homeroom 221 (formerly 314, formerly 313) boasts thirty-one teen-age cairngorms, one frog-dissecting homeroom teacher, and a bookcase whose glass front serves wonderfully as a mirror. This last is 221's pride and joy.

And talk about organized confusion! Against a vocal backdrop of mellow morning buzzing we hear:

Mrs. Cherlin—"Jerry Bressler, get off the window sill!"

Erwin Kirschner—"Class dues! Let's have the money!" (In his spare time, Erwin wins basketball games.)

Betsy Rosenberg—"Please listen. It's your Class Council!"

Ellen Brodsky—"I've been accepted to Syracuse!!!"

221 has everything. If you're in a romantic mood, as Kay Rabstein sometimes is, you can get your hop bids from Rose Rufolo, the girl in the Rutgers sweater. If you're in one of those rare reading moods, Ralph Rothman will be only too glad to sell you a New York Times (cheap); and Ronni Goldberg will gladly sell you a Calumet—if and when it comes out. Back when the occupants of 221 were ensconced (is that the word?) in 314, they would sometimes catch the fragrant scent of formaldehyde coming from the biology lab. A stray pooch would pay an occasional visit. But back when the homeroom was 313, which is truly ancient history, were the good old days. That's when Barbara Ades wore a pony-tail.

Back to the present . . . Our wide-eyed class chairman starts to read the morning notices: "Mr. Bernstein says —"

Homeroom 221: Buzz—Buzz—Buzz—Buzz—Buzz . . .

Our wide-eyed chairman bravely continues: "Mr. Bernstein says . . . that henceforth, anyone caught chewing tobacco in the teachers' room—"

Homeroom 221: Buzz—Buzz—Buzz—Buzz—Buzz . . .

Amidst all this organized confusion, "Bobbi" Julian can be found quietly reading "The Rise of David Levinsky." She pauses now and then to prop a mirror against the book to comb her carrot-hued tresses. This afternoon, she and ever-smiling Carol Lohman will go out soliciting ads for this Legend you are now holding in your hands.

. . . Buzz—Buzz—Buzz—Buzz . . . Judy Kimelman is extolling the joys of early rising. Joan Osowitt and Maxine Barish are extolling the joys of membership in the Honor Society. Ellen Weisman is extolling the joys of everything. All this time Frank Schulaner is gathering data for the Legend, while ticklish Sandy Vice counts her ads.

Buzz—Buzz—Buzz—Buzz—Buzz . . .

On the quieter side, Lynn Chopin dreams of someday rivaling Victor Borge; Marsha Chatzklin dreams of finally graduating; Marcia Rhodes and Phyllis Bernstein dream of passing the chemistry test. But the puzzlement is: what does "Mitzie" Tasco dream about . . . and Phyllis Tucker . . . and Georgieanna Smallwood. Hmmm . . .

Thirty-one teen-age cairngorms—isn't Mrs. Cherlin just too proud for words? Thirty-one teen-age cairngorms—including Sherry Smith, who is one-eighth Amerindian (and proud of it!) and Nancy Wildstein, who is seven-eighths pony-tail (and proud of it!)

Mary Cherlin, Gregory's mom, and a swell teacher to boot, surveys her flocks, and asks herself: "Dear me, what have I done to deserve this?"

Don't ask us, Mrs. Cherlin. How many more days to G-day?

ROUS' RUBIES, Model No. 317

SADIE Z. ROUS

The sound of the janitor's keys echoes through the silent halls as he opens the Ruby Vault, room 317. To his amazement, the custodian finds Robert Zashin is already there and is mumbling loudly to himself. Joe Grossman and Felix Kozodoy soon join him in a serious dissertation on chemistry. As the clock hands move, other stragglers stroll in. Among them is Maruta Kubulnieks (if Alex's car didn't break down.) Peter Feilbogen staggers in, silently sits down, opens his French book and becomes oblivious to his surroundings. Five minutes later, Wheel-O in hand, in walks Jimmy Schwarz, determined to baffle the science department. A crowd quickly forms around him. Joe "Naval Reserve" Demboski distinguishes himself as "Wheel-O" champ.

Mrs. Rous steps into the room after completing her discussion with Mrs. Lappe. Her morning greeting to the class is, "I've got a lot of work to do this morning, and if you can't keep quiet, go into the hall!"

Eventually, the unfortunate students who have to report for Mrs. Rous' eight o'clock detention amble in grudgingly.

The first to be admonished by Mrs. Rous is Judy Siegel. Not only has she been talking to Howard Singer, but she also forgot her excuse. Quietly (in a loud way) Barry Feldman and Charlie Berkowitz exchange incorrect trig answers.

Mike Gordon is studying diligently for one of his daily tests when Herb Childs tries to borrow a paper from him. Mike refers him to Tom Finneran. Tom, however, is busy choosing the Bible selection for Rona Michaelson to read. Herb is referred to Edna Jordan who is too busy putting the day's irregular schedule on the board. He's lost.

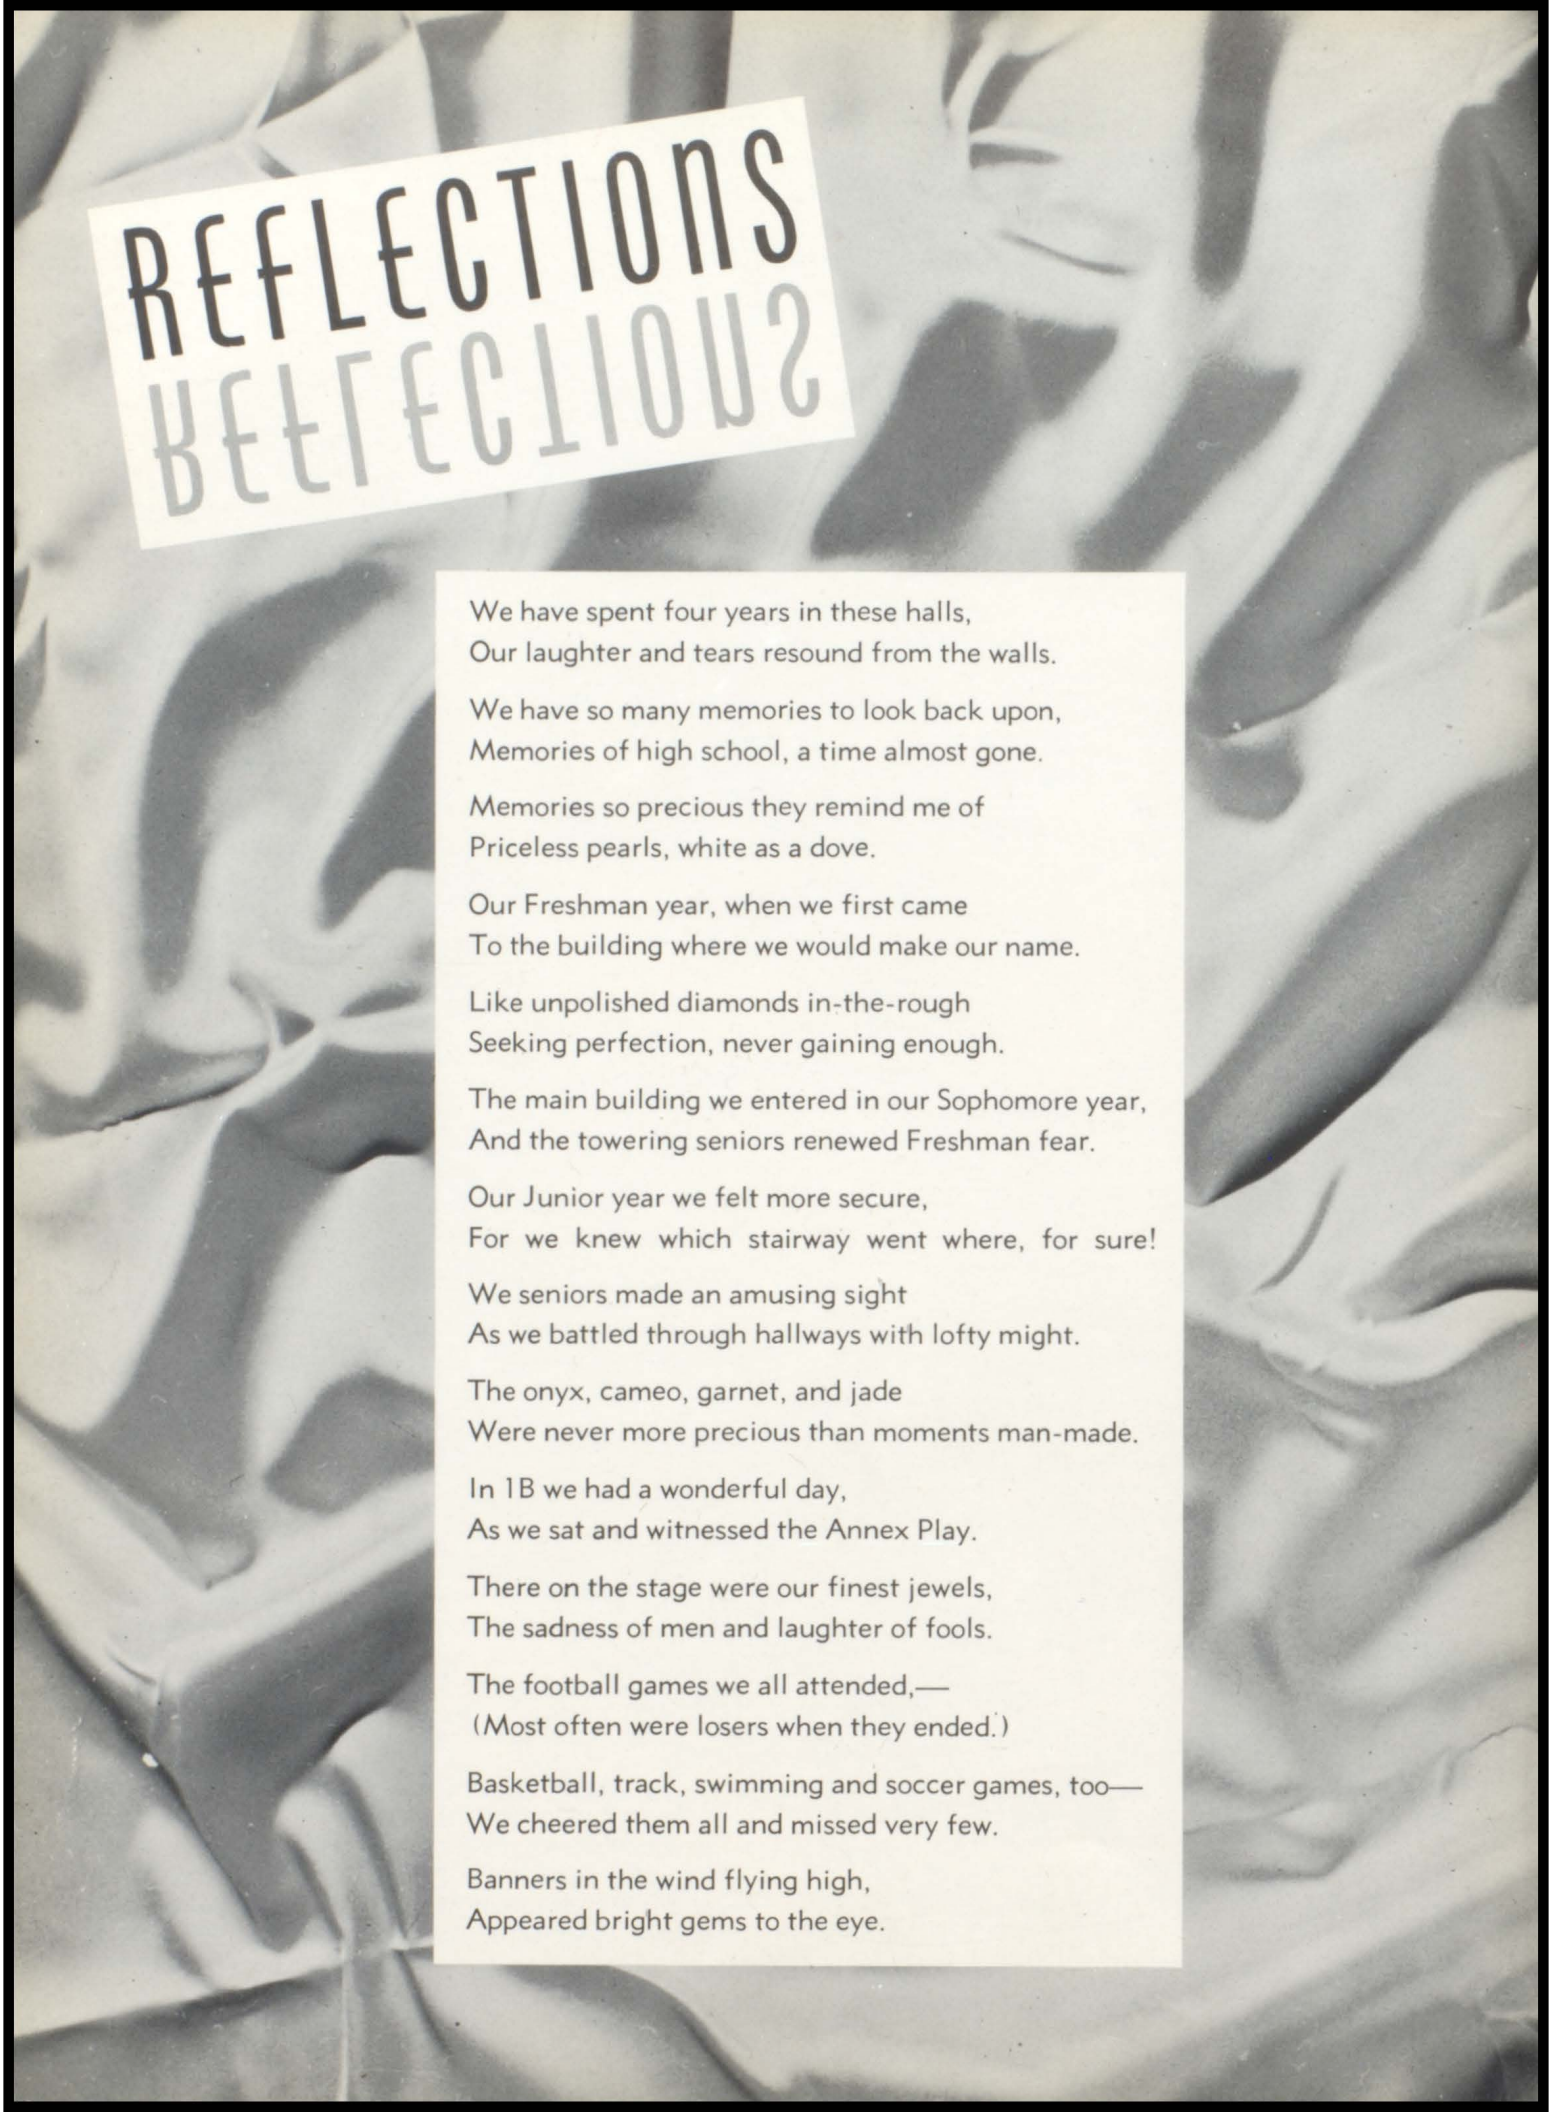

It's 8:25, homeroom time. Mrs. Rous asks Alan Westrich for his excuse. Alan replies, "I'll bring it tomorrow." Marilyn Lefkowitz tries to enter without being noticed which only results in, "You're technically late!"

At 8:30:01, Jackie Resnick, Linda Pollack and Dotty Kurzrock carefully open the door and meekly announce, "The bus was late."

Immediately Judy Tiber is asked to deposit her ever-present chewing gum in the basket and remove the clips from her hair. Ira Bauer passes a picture of his latest steady to "Cookie" Avnet who only gets into a conversation with Irene Beck that sounds like a 45 rpm played at 78 rpm. Larry Katz is spouting the latest developments in the sports world. Arleen Traberman professionally applies her make-up (as a model should) while Mrs. Rous is trying to convince John Boyle to go to a school event.

There is a tremendous clatter. Everyone turns to see Erik Sandberg-Diment struggling with his photographic equipment. The bell rings and Marianne Cervenka looks up, closes her books, thus bringing her homework period to an end.

This is an end we all regret, but it is also the beginning of many days to come. This is the end of our own homeroom 317.

REFLECTIONS

We have spent four years in these halls,
Our laughter and tears resound from the walls.

We have so many memories to look back upon,
Memories of high school, a time almost gone.

Memories so precious they remind me of
Priceless pearls, white as a dove.

Our Freshman year, when we first came
To the building where we would make our name.

Like unpolished diamonds in-the-rough
Seeking perfection, never gaining enough.

The main building we entered in our Sophomore year,
And the towering seniors renewed Freshman fear.

Our Junior year we felt more secure,
For we knew which stairway went where, for sure!

We seniors made an amusing sight
As we battled through hallways with lofty might.

The onyx, cameo, garnet, and jade
Were never more precious than moments man-made.

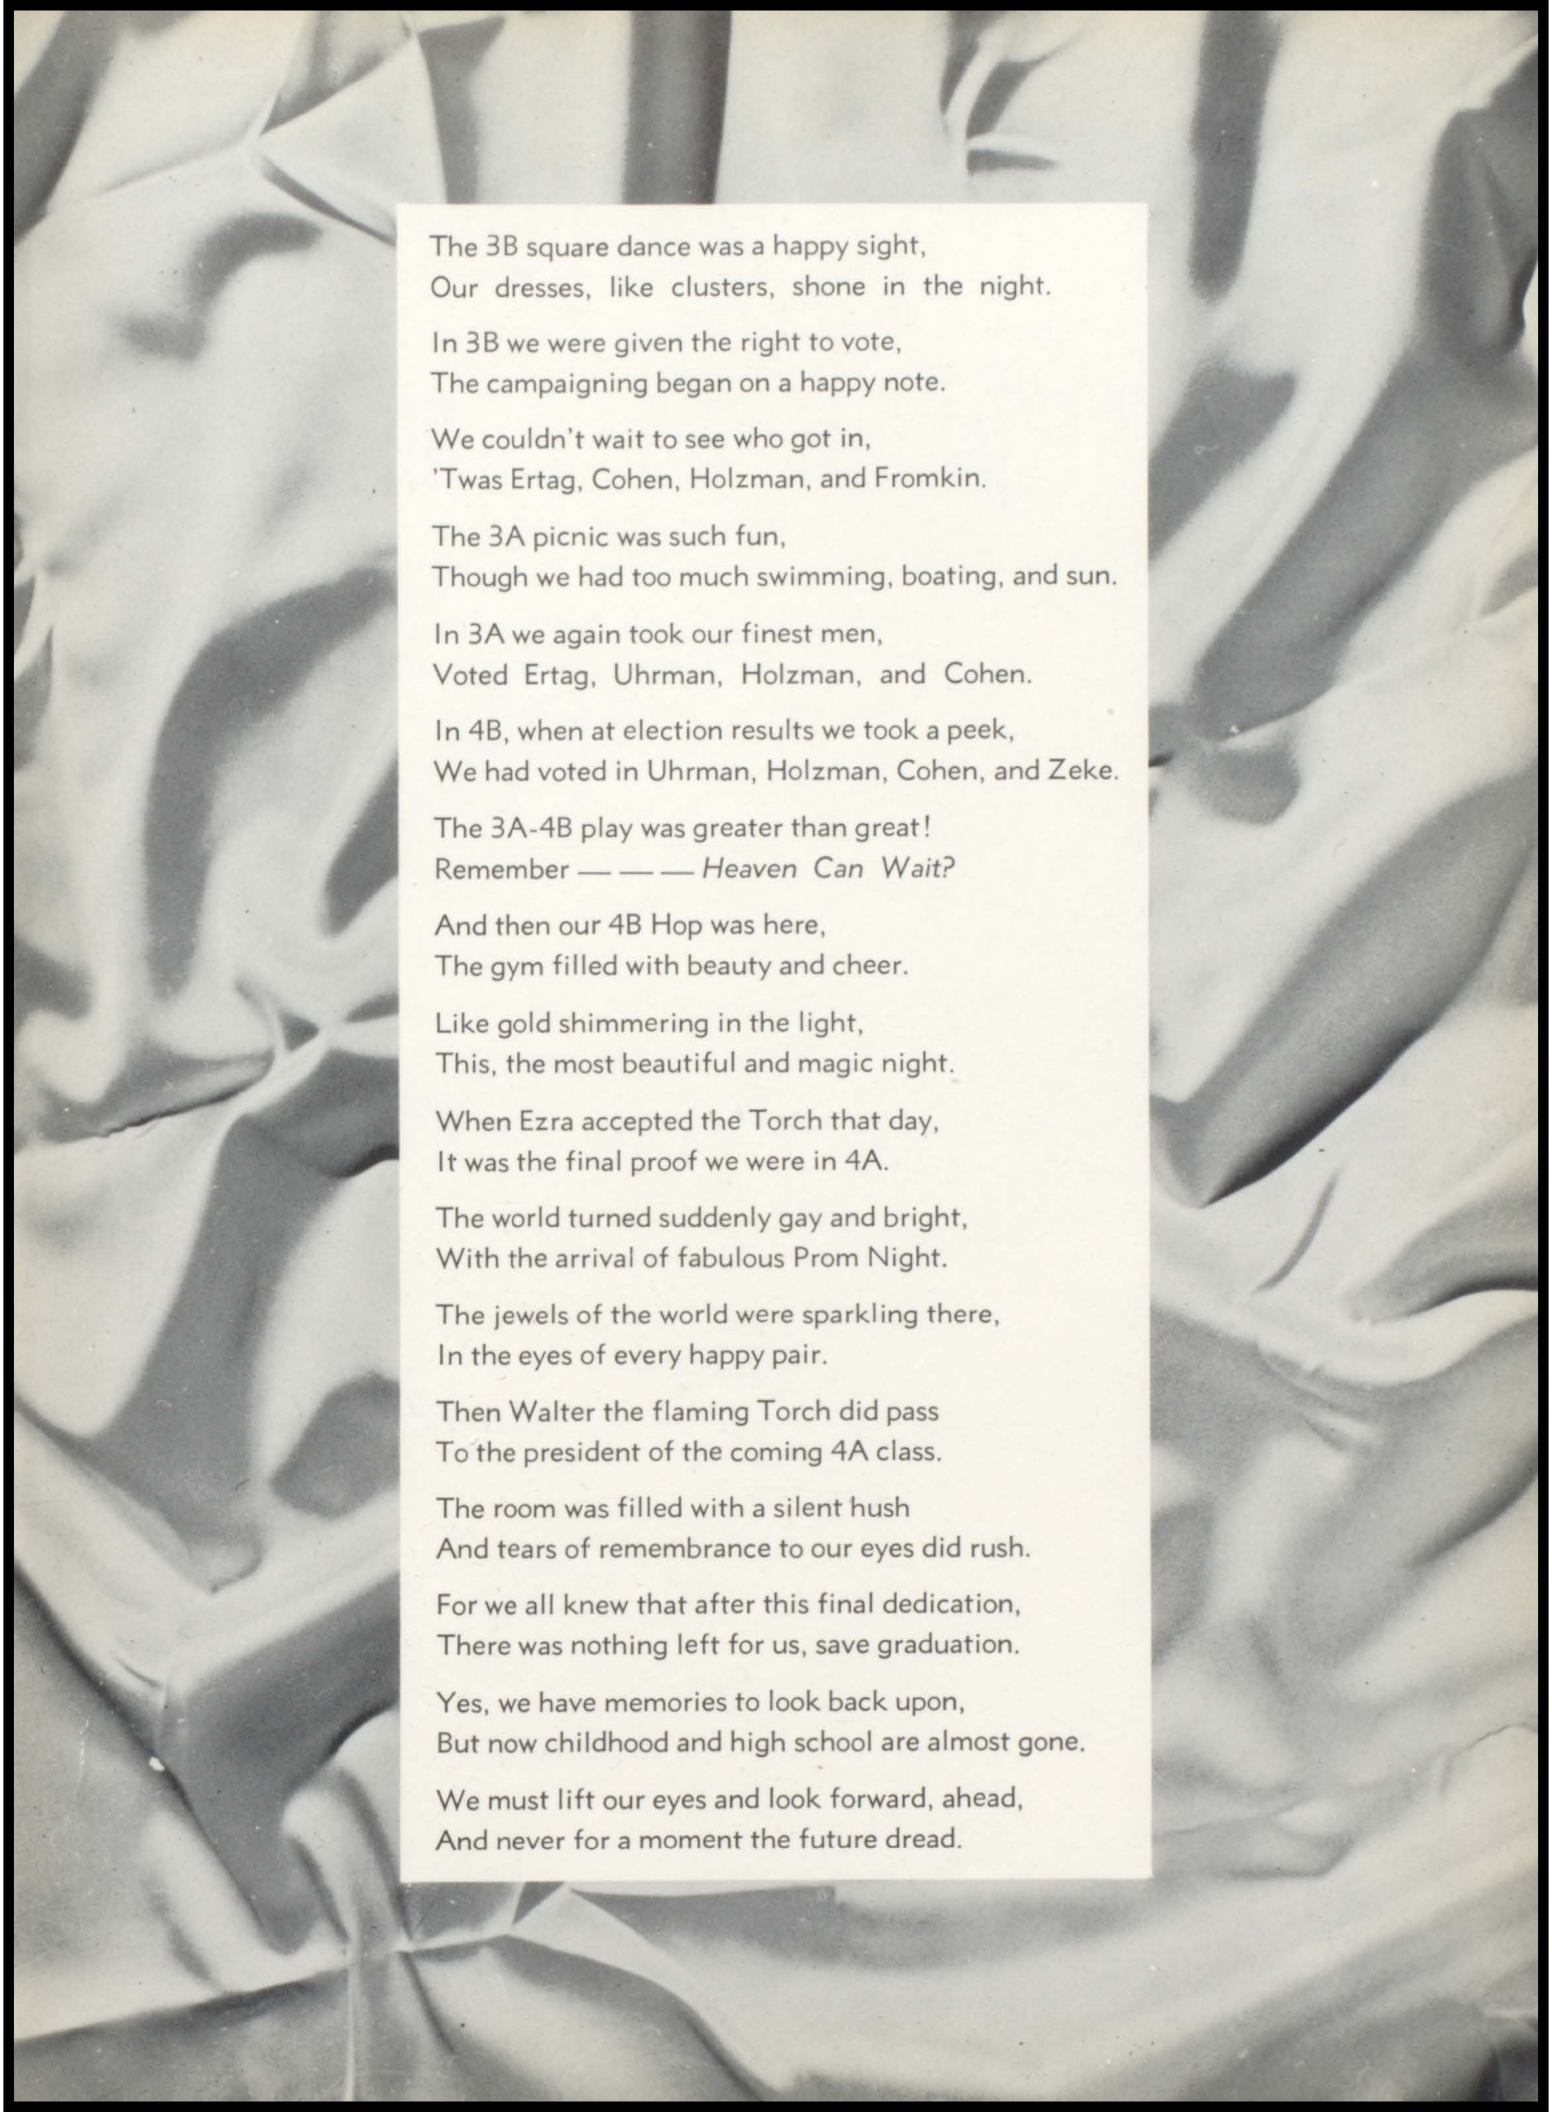

In 1B we had a wonderful day,
As we sat and witnessed the Annex Play.

There on the stage were our finest jewels,
The sadness of men and laughter of fools.

The football games we all attended,—
(Most often were losers when they ended.)

Basketball, track, swimming and soccer games, too—
We cheered them all and missed very few.

Banners in the wind flying high,
Appeared bright gems to the eye.

The 3B square dance was a happy sight,
Our dresses, like clusters, shone in the night.

In 3B we were given the right to vote,
The campaigning began on a happy note.

We couldn't wait to see who got in,
'Twas Ertag, Cohen, Holzman, and Fromkin.

The 3A picnic was such fun,
Though we had too much swimming, boating, and sun.

In 3A we again took our finest men,
Voted Ertag, Uhrman, Holzman, and Cohen.

In 4B, when at election results we took a peek,
We had voted in Uhrman, Holzman, Cohen, and Zeke.

The 3A-4B play was greater than great!
Remember — — — Heaven Can Wait?

And then our 4B Hop was here,
The gym filled with beauty and cheer.

Like gold shimmering in the light,
This, the most beautiful and magic night.

When Ezra accepted the Torch that day,
It was the final proof we were in 4A.

The world turned suddenly gay and bright,
With the arrival of fabulous Prom Night.

The jewels of the world were sparkling there,
In the eyes of every happy pair.

Then Walter the flaming Torch did pass
To the president of the coming 4A class.

The room was filled with a silent hush
And tears of remembrance to our eyes did rush.

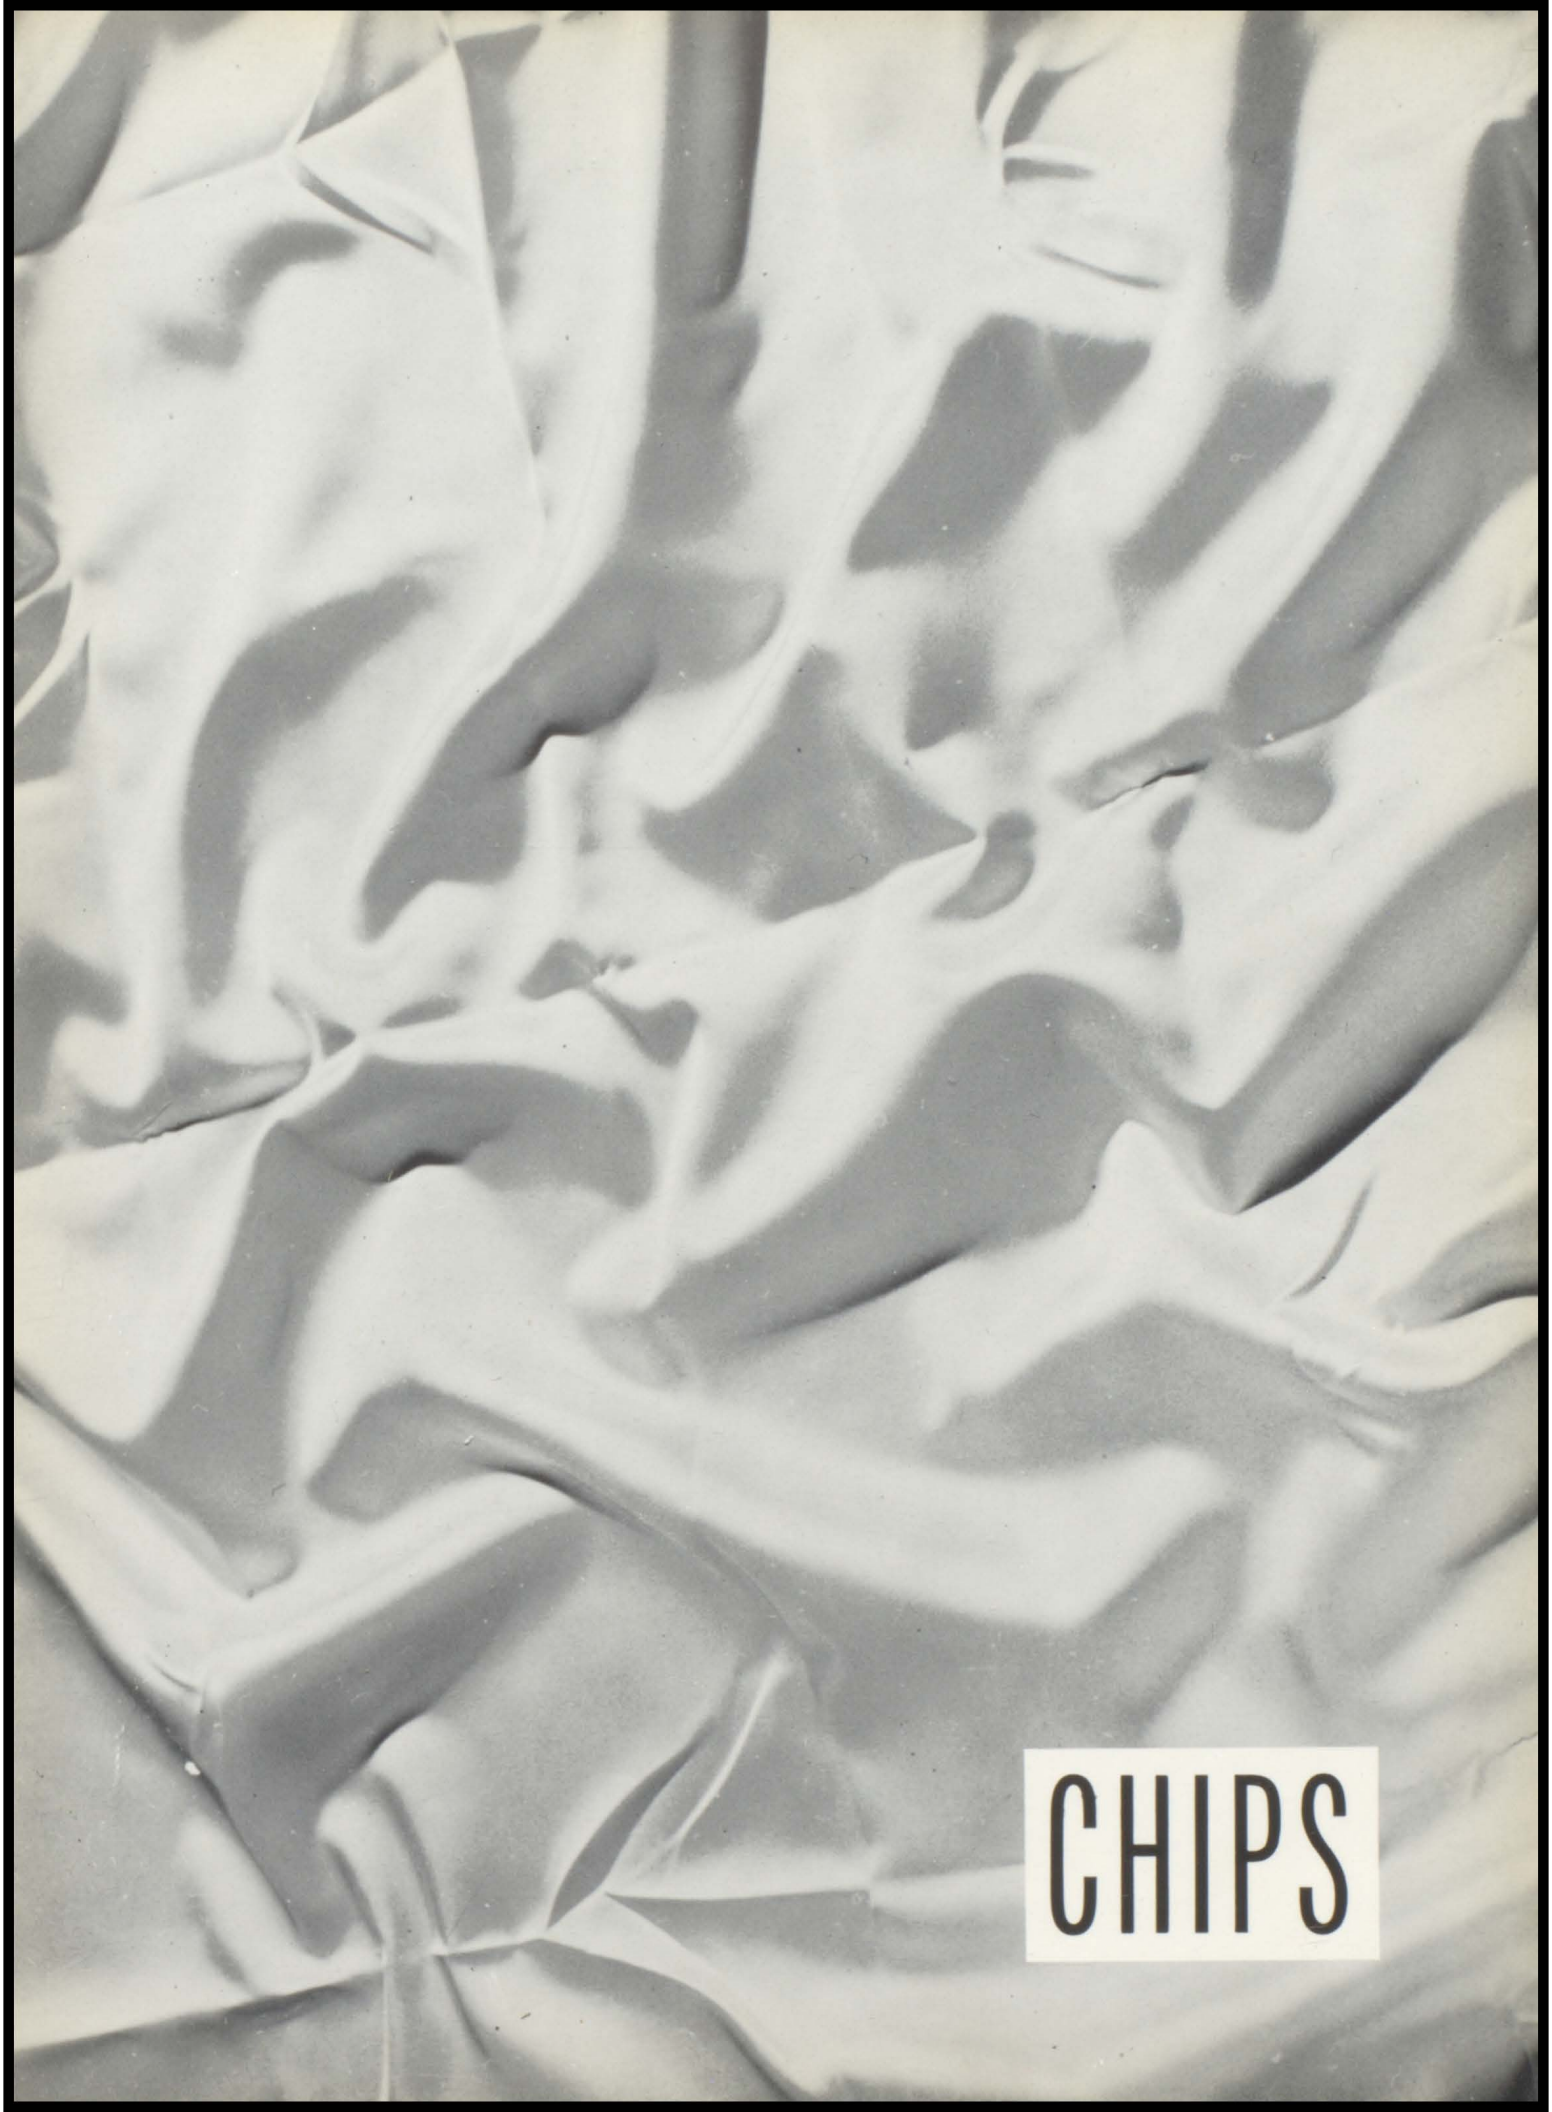

For we all knew that after this final dedication,
There was nothing left for us, save graduation.

Yes, we have memories to look back upon,
But now childhood and high school are almost gone.

We must lift our eyes and look forward, ahead,
And never for a moment the future dread.

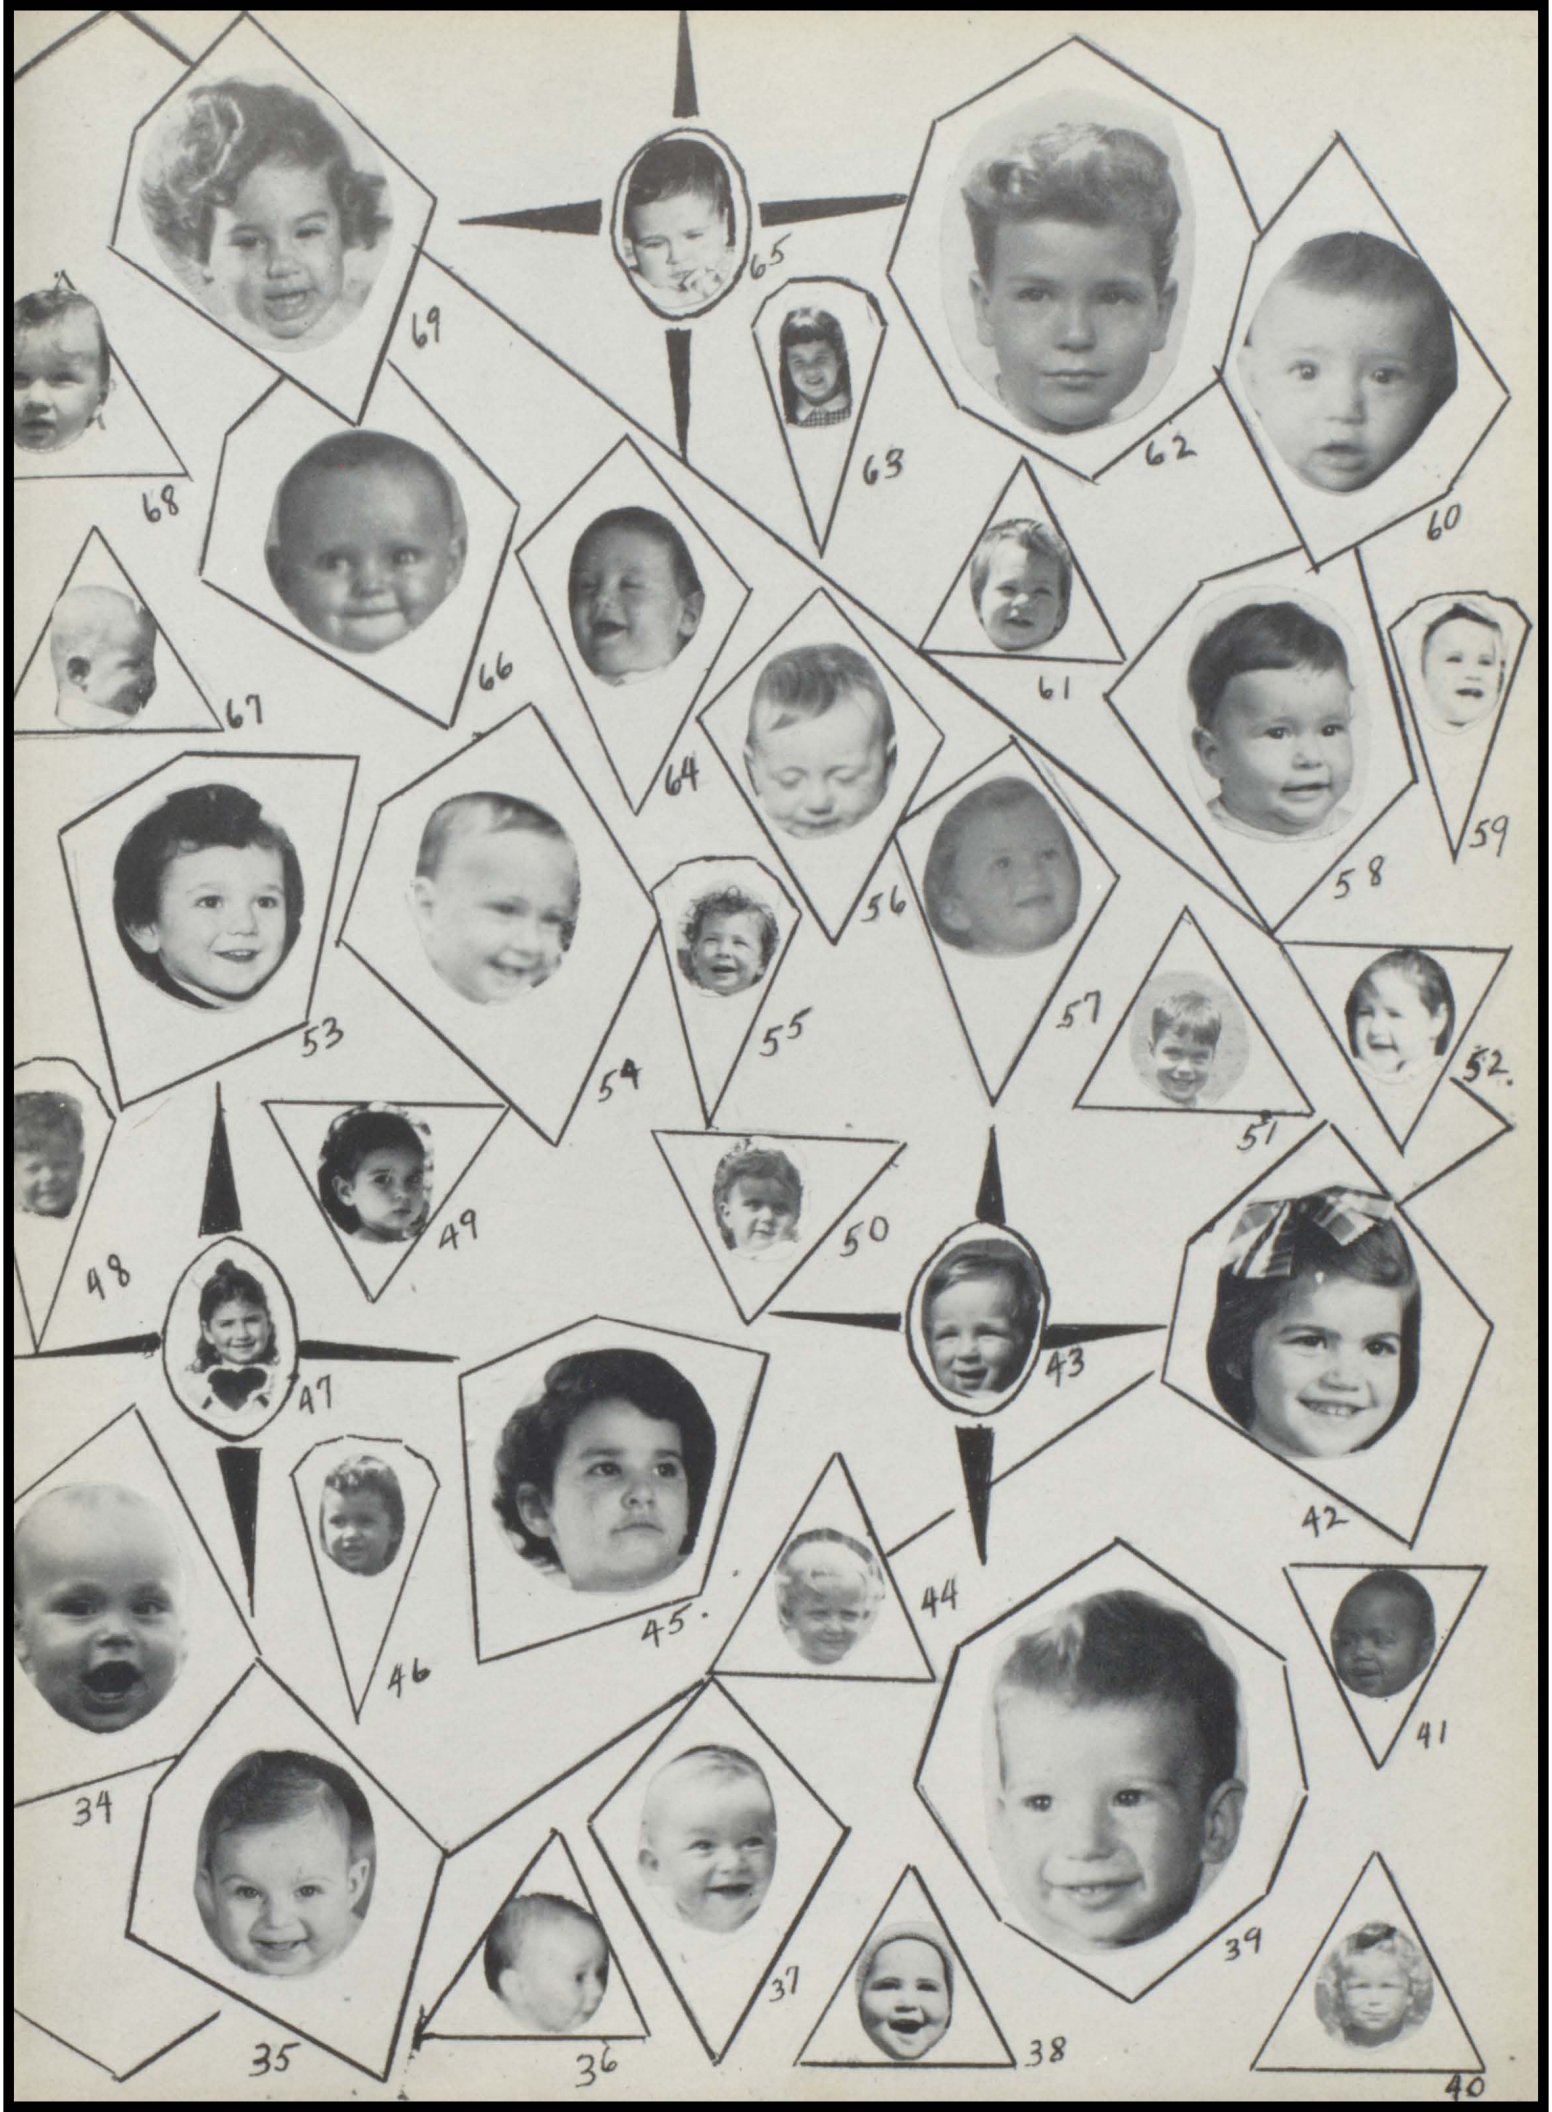

GEMS OF WISDOM

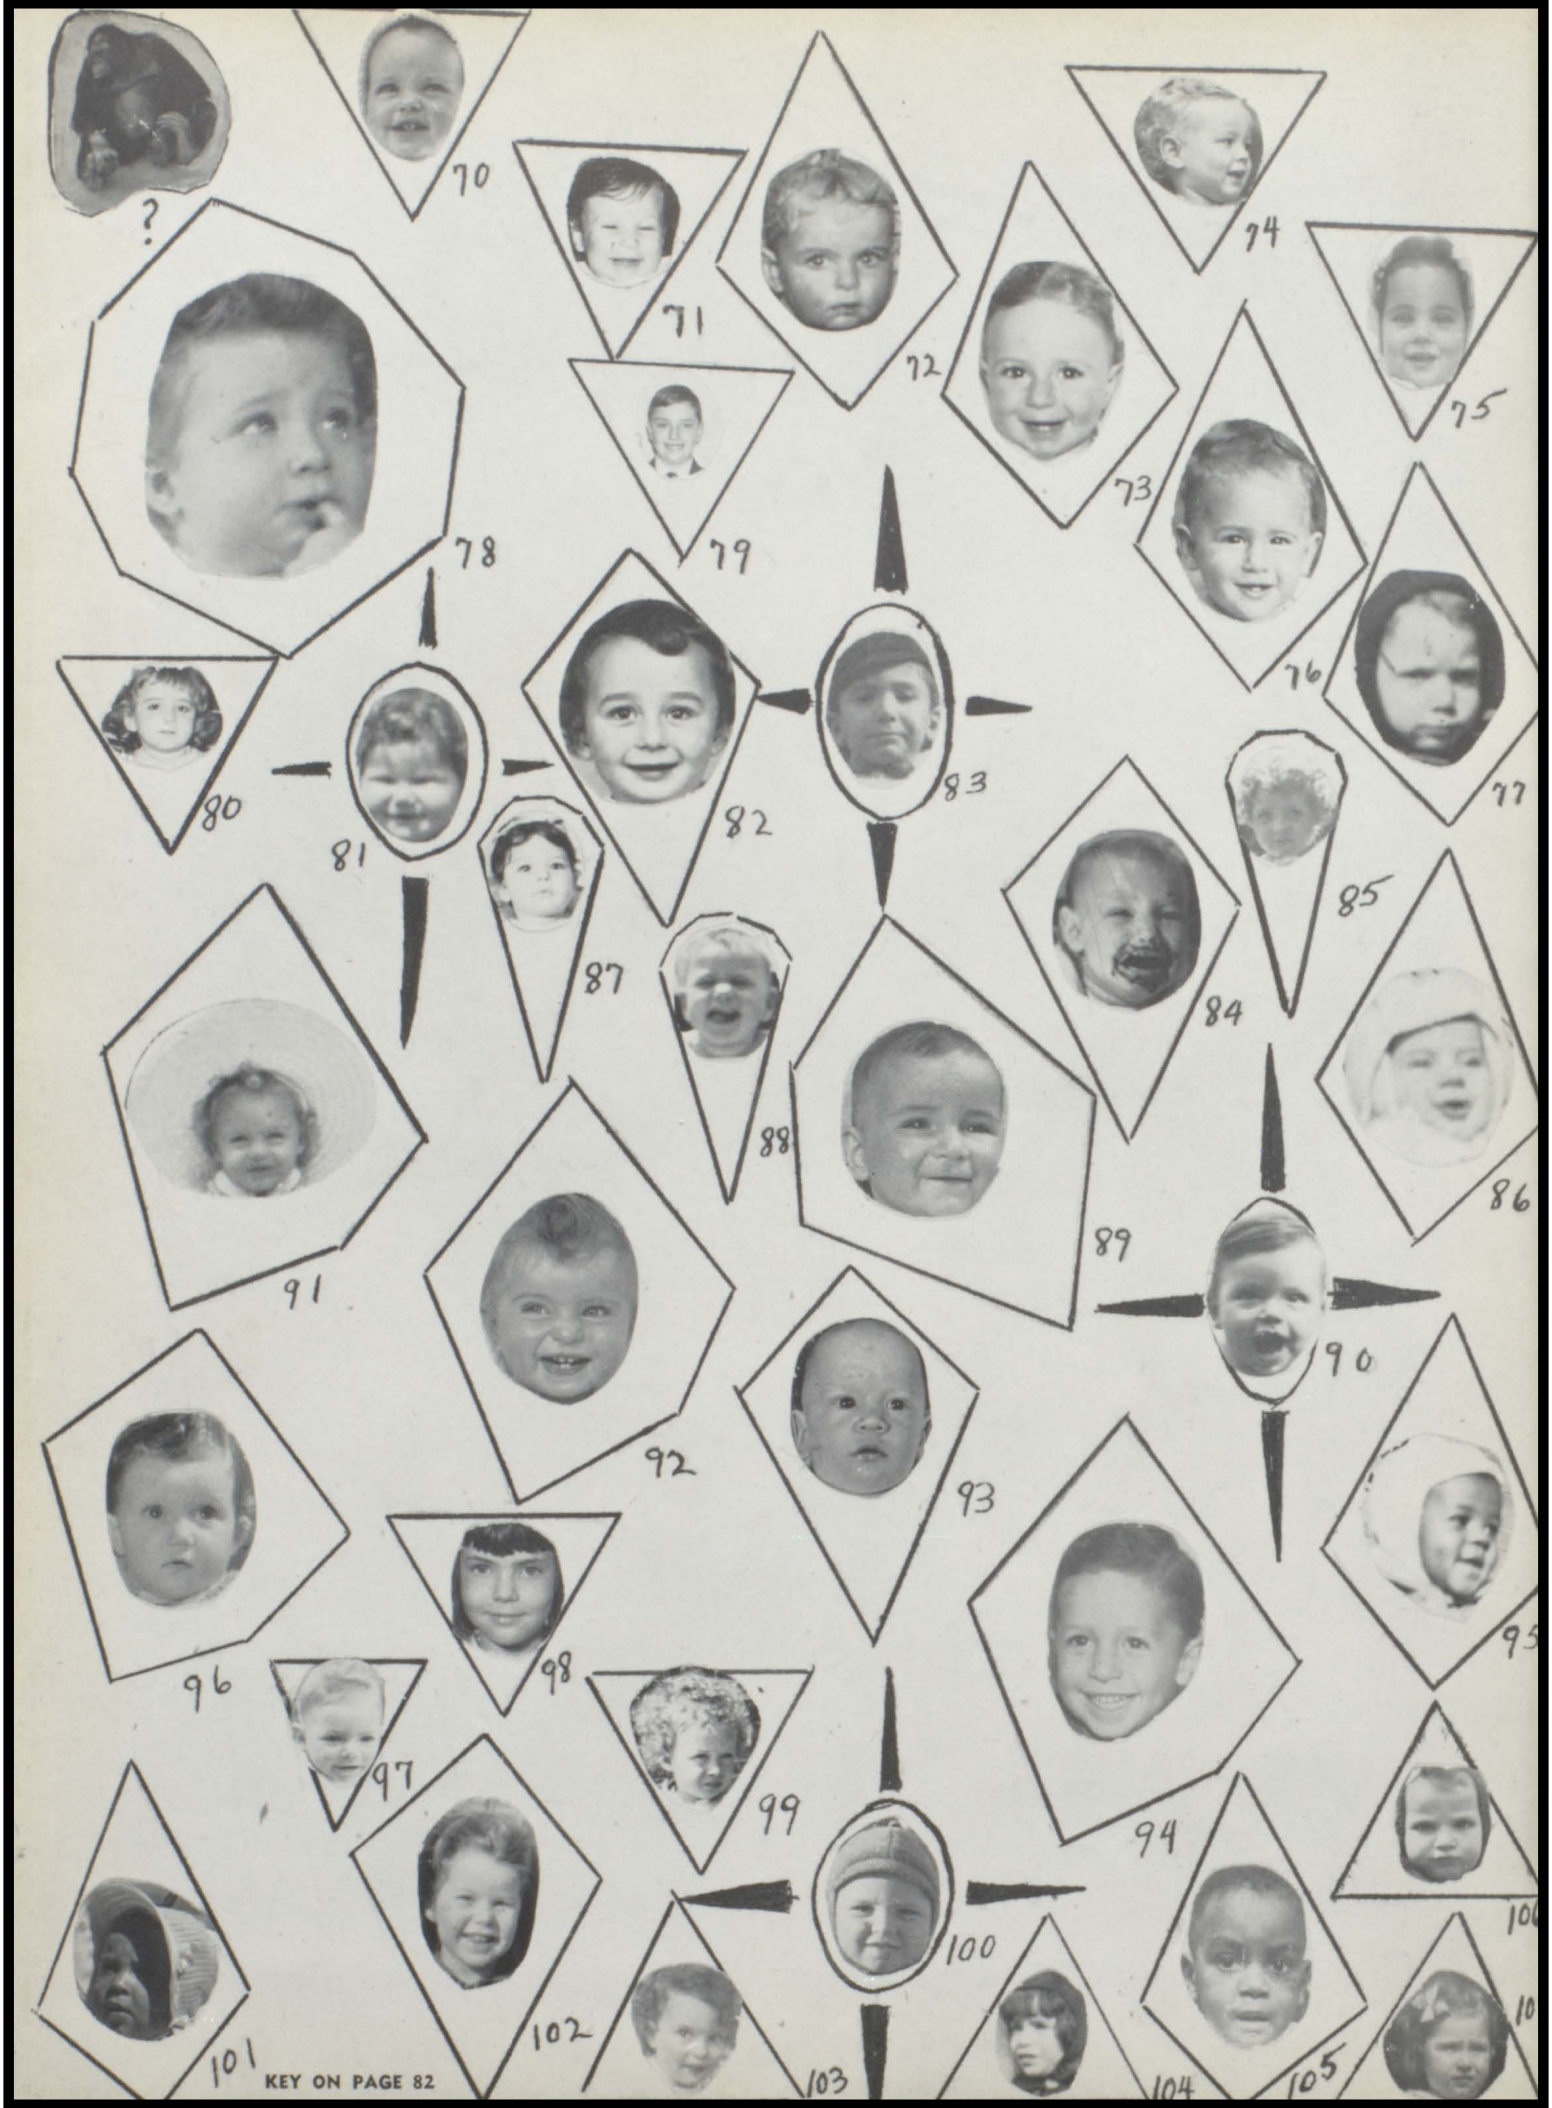

MR. GRUBER	It's obvious!
MR. MARTINO	Keeds, don't memorize — just learn word for word.
MR. MOSKOWITZ . .	It's a fung-shun of a fung-shun of a fung-shun . . .
MRS. YELLIN	I don't mean to scare you, but . . .
MRS. ROSENBERG . .	Use Bon-Ami on your sneakers, girls, not chalk!
MISS SHAPIRO . . .	Swing-vaulting is the most popular sport in the school.
MRS. ROUS	As I was saying, young people, it's ghaaastly!
MISS FEITEL	One more sound and we're cutting this Legend staff in half.
MRS. BIRNBAUM . . .	Don't look at me like dead fish!
MR. BRENMAN . . .	Je regrette infiniment, mais je ne parle pas Anglais.
MRS. JENNINGS . . .	That girl is keen!
MR. LA PENNA . . .	You might get into Rutger's Newark.
MR. BERNSTEIN . . .	Love your fellow students but not in the halls.
MRS. SCHORN . . .	You can stick it out for two more periods.
MRS. CHOSNEY . . .	SENIORS, send a committee to Mr. Bernstein.
MR. EISENBERG . . .	We had a little accident with that acid. We scraped him up.
MRS. KOSKY	All those who are talking, see me at 2:30.
MR. SCHULMAN . . .	In the tradition of the Honor Society . . .
MRS. TWARDUS . . .	If Muzzey says it's so, it's so.
MR. LEMERMAN . . .	Ladies and gentlemen . . .
MR. DE LISI	You're going to be here for forty minutes. We might as well do something.
MR. RUBINFELD . . .	Well, you made the twenty-second percentile.
MISS O'CONNOR . . .	Let serenity be the keynote of this class.
MRS. MANNING . . .	Today we clean the apartment, girls.
MR. SCHWARTZ . . .	You let me do the thinking, sweetheart.

PRECIOUS MOMENTS

Whiffenpoof Song

From the table down at Harjay's
To the place where Syd's boys dwell
To the dear old football field we love
so well.
See the senior girls assembled
With their glasses raised on high
And the magic of their singing casts its spell.
Yes, the magic of their singing
Of the tunes we love so well,
Don't Be Cruel, Jailhouse Rock and all the rest.
We will serenade our Julius
While life and joys are best.
Then we'll pass and be forgotten
with the rest.
We're poor little seniors who have gone astray —
Flunk! Flunk! Flunk!
We're poor little seniors who have lost our way —
Flunk! Flunk! Flunk!
Gentlemen teachers, hear our plea.
Are we doomed to stay here through eternity?
May God have mercy on such as we.
Flunk! Flunk! Flunk!

PRECIOUS MOMENTS

(to tune of Magic Moments)

Precious moments, here we are at last,
Our years at Weequahic have gone by so fast,
Lest we forget the friends we have made,
And never let these friendships fade.

Precious moments, that we all did spend,
Four years joyous, coming to an end.
Now all these memories have flown by.
Precious moments, Weequahic High.

THE CHOSNEY SONG

(to tune of Mother)

C is for the care she always gave us.
H is for the help she shows each day.
O is for her dear old fashioned kindness.
S is for her sweet and simple ways.
N E is for her knowledge and her efforts,
Y is for the years she was our pal,
Put them altogether they spell CHOSNEY,
To us she is the greatest gal.

BE KIND TO YOUR TEACHERS

(to the tune of Be Kind to Your Parents)

Be kind to your teachers,
Though they don't deserve it.
Remember that teachers are a difficult stage of life.
They're apt to be nervous,
And, oh, more excited,
Confused from their daily storm and strife.
Just keep in mind, just keep in mind,
Though it sounds hard I know,
Most teachers once were students long ago (incredible!)
So treat them with patience
And more understanding
In spite of the homework that they give,
Some day you may wake up and find you're a teacher, too.

GETTING TO KNOW YOU

Getting to know you,
Getting to know all about you.
Sharing a locker
Copying homework, too,
Now is the time for friendships
that last forever
Because of all the wonderful and new
Things we're hoping to go through
Day by Day.

SOMEWHERE OVER THE RAINBOW

Somewhere over the rainbow,
Way up high.
Dreams lie over the rainbow,
Dreams of the years gone by.
This night most perfect of all nights'
wonderous things.
As we share it together, we'll start remembering.
We'll dream of years that have flown past.
Our memories of this Hop will last forever.
Through picnics, dances, football games —
that won our team such widespread fame,
We stood together.
Somewhere over the rainbow
Shines the sun.
Dreams lie over the rainbow —
Dreams of the years to come.

SITTIN' IN THE SAND

Sittin' in the sand, da da da da da
We were makin' plans, da da da da da
Planning together
For the great night to come.
Borrowed Daddy's car, da da da da da
Traveled, oh, so far, da da da da da
Lookin' for dresses
For the great night to come.
We didn't tell our mothers,
We didn't tell our brothers,
That we'd be home so late.
So much aggravation
For just one occasion:
I hope I can get a date.
Here we are at last, da da da da da
The whole 4B class, da da da da da
Hope it never ends,
For the great night has come.

MY SPECIAL ANGEL

You are my special angel
Sent from up above.
This is the perfect night,
The time for falling in love.
We'll make it last forever.
This is paradise.
We'll dance on clouds together.
Heaven is in our eyes.
This night is filled with enchantment;
Our hearts are beating so fast.
We'll sing, we'll dance with hearts entranced,
We're in heaven at last.
This hop will last forever
In our memories.
We'll thank thee, special angel,
Throughout eternity.

LAST WILL AND TESTAMENT

We, the Class of June 1958, of Weequahic High School of Newark, New Jersey, being as of sound mind and memory as seniors ever are, do declare this to be our Last Will and Testament:

To Mr. Bernstein — We leave a sound-proofed section of the auditorium for seniors only.
To Mrs. Chosney — We leave our deepest gratitude for the undivided attention she has given to us and our problems.
To Miss Feitel — We leave our warmest appreciation for her leadership, understanding and patience with the Legend and us.
To the Freshmen — We leave a book entitled A Chance for Survival in Weequahic.
To the Sophomores — You've heard the saying, "No more teachers, no more books." Well, we leave both.
To the Juniors — We leave the hope that you will someday become seniors.
To the 4B's — We leave our affectionate envy — for they shall have what we just lost.
To Mr. Stamelman — We leave an all-girl football team.
To Mr. Kobetz — We leave a stop sign for the second floor traffic jam.
To Mrs. Rous — We leave another group of "young people."
To Mr. Chasen — We leave students who can follow directions.
To Mrs. Glucksman — We leave a one year free course in piano lessons.
To Miss Judson — We leave an unlimited supply of white shoe polish.
To Mrs. Mazaica — We leave a king-sized, solid gold safety pin.
To Mrs. Lutzky — We leave future years of health and happiness.
To Mrs. Cherlin — We leave a serious homeroom.
To Miss O'Connor — We leave purple glasses to give the world an amethyst glow.
To Mr. Silber — We leave a homeroom of enthusiastic golfers.
To Mrs. Rhodes — We leave a memorandum pad.
To the Clubs — We leave pupils who will attend meetings.
To the Desks — We leave pen knives to make carving names easier.
To the Gossipers — We leave a vacuum cleaner to pick up all the dirt.
To Weequahic High School ——— We leave . . . with memories.

FOOTBALL

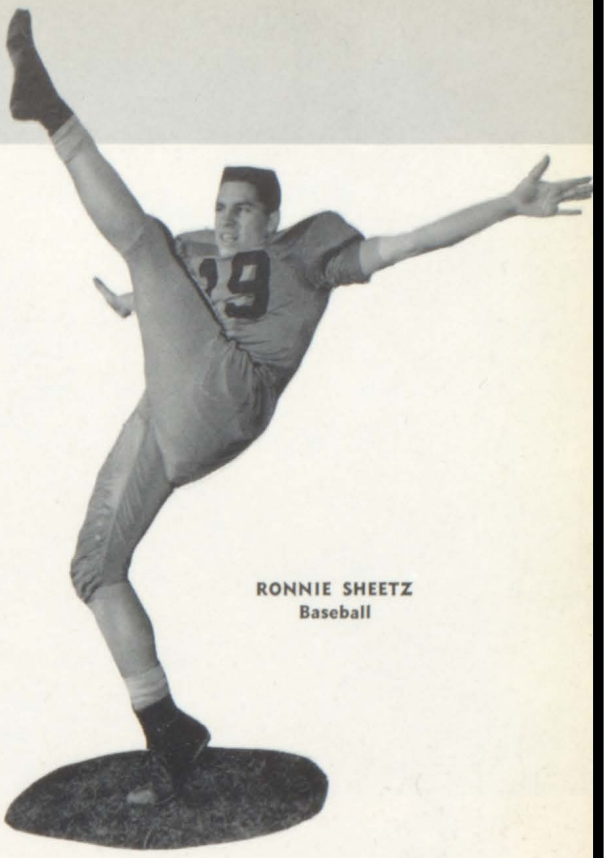

Kneeling: Lowyns, Koonce, Stein.
Standing: Wiernik, Sheetz, Walker.

To any high school there is nothing quite as precious as its football team. Our team has given us many afternoons of spills, chills, and thrills. We remember how Barry Wiernik directed and guided them through the crisp autumn afternoons. We sat and cheered through freezing Saturdays as Paul Stein, Bob Lowyns and Bill Walker ground our opponent's offense to a halt. A wave of relief would pass through Untermann Field as Ronnie Sheetz would boot the team out of a tight spot. And there were the damp, wet games when the footing was unsure and slippery and the numbers were obscured by mud. We depended on the loudspeaker to tell us that William Tucker had broken through for a first down or that Perry Koonce held on to the pigskin.

The culmination came on Thanksgiving when everyone in the crowd wished he could be out there giving every ounce of energy he possessed till the final gun. Of that crowd, Dave Saltman, Barry Kirstein, and Louis Fromkin wanted to play more than anyone else.

TRACK and CROSS COUNTRY

Kneeling: Uhrman, Weinstein, Graves, Lipton. Standing: Parness, Lane, Polonsky, Walker, Greenberg.

The outdoor track team, under the guidance of Coach Joseph Nerenberg, is attempting to repeat its performance of last season. Among the team members are co-captain Myron Weinstein, Allan Greenberg, John Graves, Roger Lipton, Edward Parness, Ira Polonsky, Walter Uhrman, William Walker and Al Lane.

Graves and Polonsky are two stalwarts on the cross country and indoor track teams. Johnny runs the mile while Ira is a star in the half mile. Greenberg and Walker, on the team for their second season, throw the discus and shot. Lipton, having served in this capacity during his junior year, is the team's veteran pole vaulter. One of Weequahic's finest sprinters is Ed Parness, a four year veteran who had shown constant improvement and bolstered Weequahic's chances in the dashes.

Newcomer Walter Uhrman is a half miler whose times show his great potential. Another guiding light and co-captain is Myron Weinstein, who is considered by Coach Nerenberg to be the best weightman in the shot and discus at Weequahic in the past ten years. Weequahic expects him to surpass his own records while leading his team to a successful season.

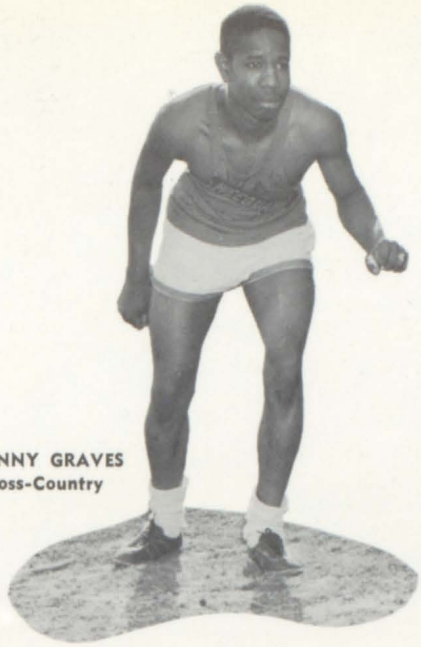

Weequahic's Cross Country team has been led by Ira Polonsky, Ray Rio and Johnny Graves. These three senior A's have been among the top runners in the city for the past three years. This is due to their intensive training under the able coaching of Meyer "Spike" Schwartz.

Their training has helped these seniors to make Weequahic the top cross country squad in the city, a title the team won in 1956. Among their other accomplishments, these boys have led Weequahic to twelve straight dual wins in 1957, with a runner-up spot in the city and county meets, and a fifth place finish in the state meet.

The other seniors who have run cross country during their four years at Weequahic are Ezra Friedlander, Alan Keselman and Myron Weinstein.

Showing again the form that won them the 1956-57 City League Championship, the Weequahic High basketball team compiled an 8-2 record to gain a tie with West Side for the championship.

The highlight of the City League season came when the Indians downed the Rough Riders on our home court to clinch the title.

The Essex County Tournament saw one of the most exciting games of the year, an overtime event in which Howie Sharenow and Gary Solomon contributed three points toward sinking Montclair.

The State Tournament gave us its share of thrills when the Indians jumped off to an early lead against highly touted Bloomfield. This being their final game, the team's record was a very fine sixteen wins and six defeats.

One of the outstanding players on this year's championship squad was Howie Sharenow. This 5'10" backcourt star sparked the team with his intelligent playmaking and sure ball-handling.

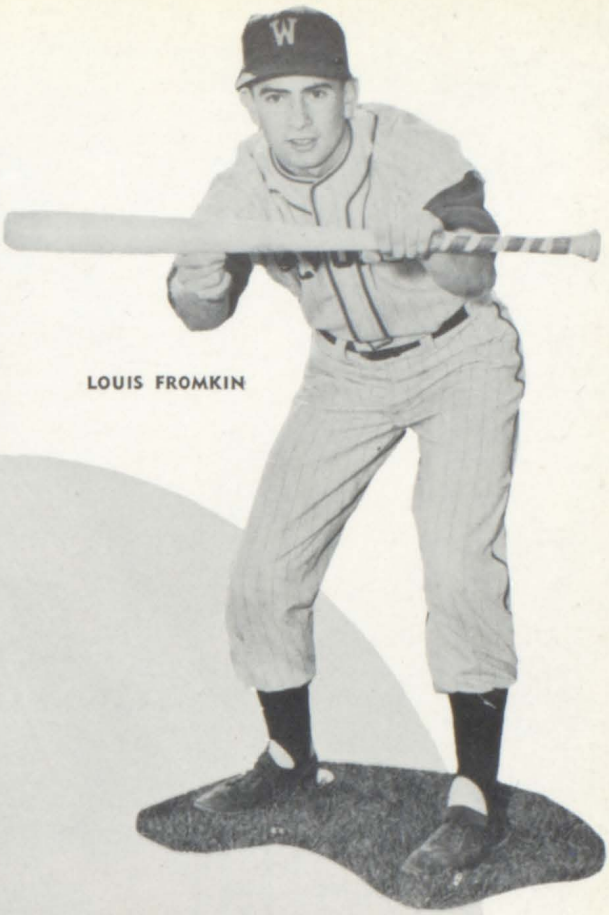

Another star, and the only other senior, is sharpshooting Gary Solomon. The slim, red haired forward has been known for his accurate jump shot and defensive skill.

Those who played under Coach Lester Fein know how valuable his teaching has been and will continue to be for future Indian teams.

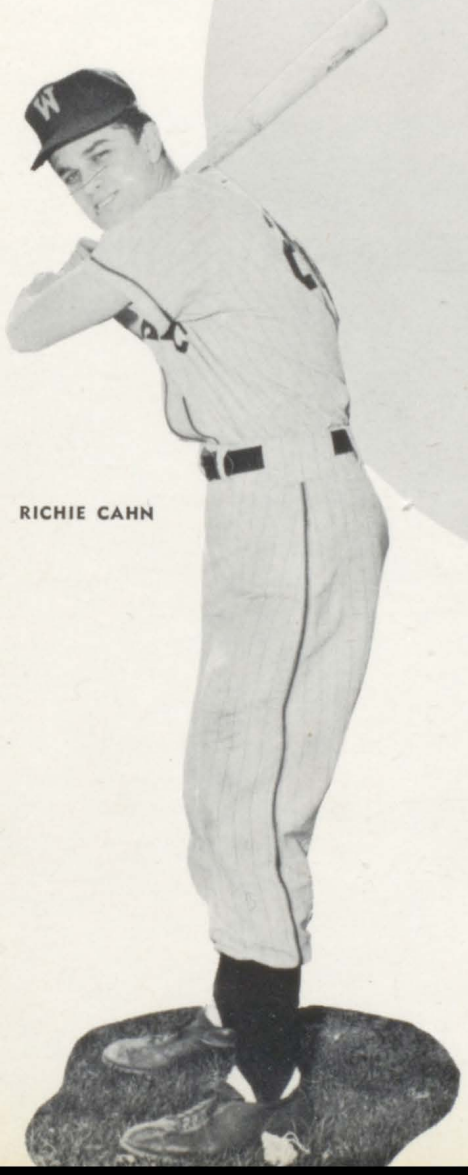

In past years, Julian Decter, Billy Ertag, Walter Uhrman, Barry Wiernik, Barry Feldman, and Lewis Fromkin were able members of the team.

Kneeling: Wiernik, Sharenow. Standing: Sheetz, Fromkin, Cahn, Goldman.

LOUIS FROMKIN

RICHIE CAHN

BASEBALL

Long one of the most popular sports at Weequahic, baseball has always attracted the best of a class' athletes. This is true of the Class of June 1958, also.

During the past several seasons, the members of the Class of June 1958 have dominated the starting team and, though the team did not finish first in the City League, hopes for the coming season are high in the minds of Mr. Schwartz and his assistant, Mr. Sheldon Weil.

Howie Sharenow, co-captain, is an excellent bunter and one of the finest fielders on the squad. Sharenow, the fastest man on the team, has led the squad in stolen bases in seasons past.

Another speedster, whose job is covering the outfield, is Louis Fromkin. Joining him in the open stretches of Untermann Field are Richie Cahn and Ronnie Sheetz. These three are top notch fielders and can be counted on for that clutch hit.

The final senior on the team is co-captain Barry Wiernik. Barry, making use of the muscle he developed during the footbal season, has compiled a .300 plus batting average over the last two seasons. To complete the picture, Barry has been known to play catcher, first base, second base, and the outfield in his career at Weequahic.

These are the seniors that make up the 1958 baseball team. In past seasons Al Rubin has blostered the squad.

SOCCER

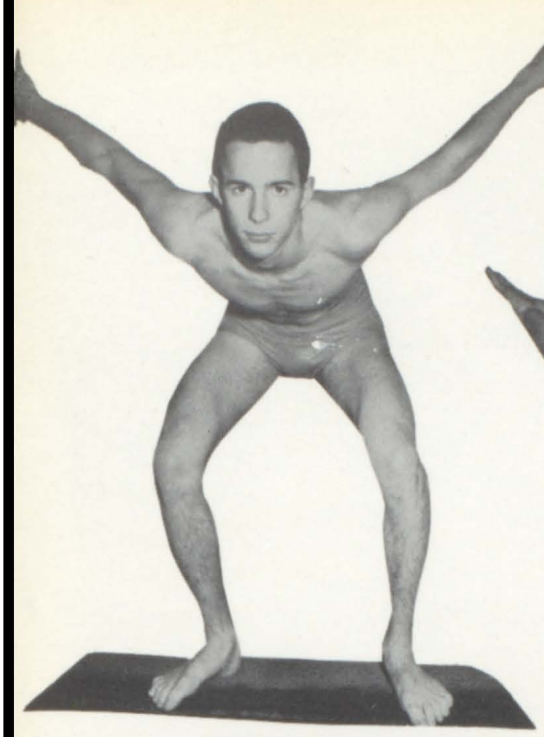

Kneeling: Marcus, Borkowsky, Gonzales.
Standing: Uhrman, Stern, Neidorf, Lipton.

Weequahic's soccer team, led by its all-state forward and co-captain, Russell Borkowsky, finished a creditable season by securing second place in the City League.

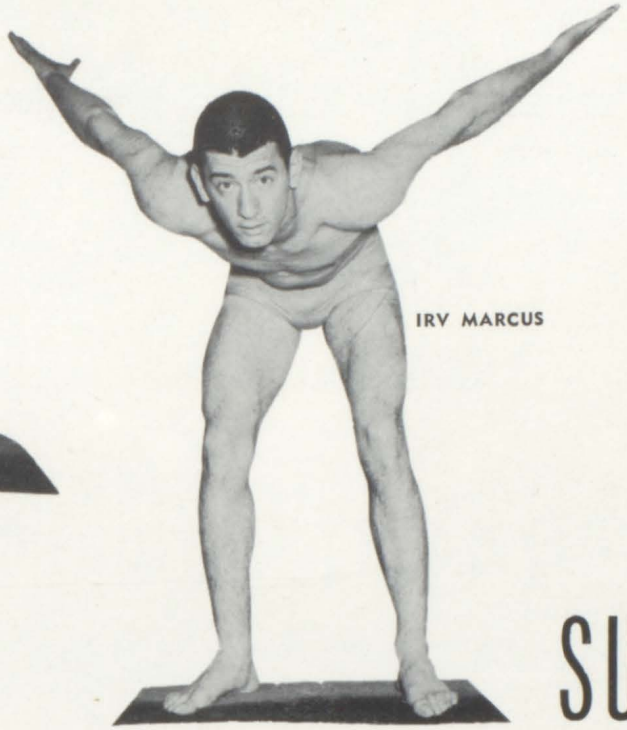

The boys started their season by holding powerful Irvington Tech, an eventual contender for the State Championship, to a 0-0 tie. The highlight of the season was their 2-1 win against Barringer, which put them in a contending position for the city crown. Three victories followed: against Central, West Side, and South Side, bringing the team's record to five won, four lost, five tied.

During these games, co-captain Tom Gonzalez did a stellar job of goal-tending, but shared this position with Mickey Stern who filled in ably between the posts in two important victories. Irv Marcus and Roger Lipton, center forward and left wing, respectively, provided the scoring punch when it was most needed. The versatility of Barry Neidorf proved a valuable asset, as he filled in at almost any forward line position. In his first year on the squad, Walter Uhrman bolstered the defense.

The graduating members of the squad join in wishing the best of luck in the future to Coach Joe Nerenberg and his charges.

HOWIE SINGER

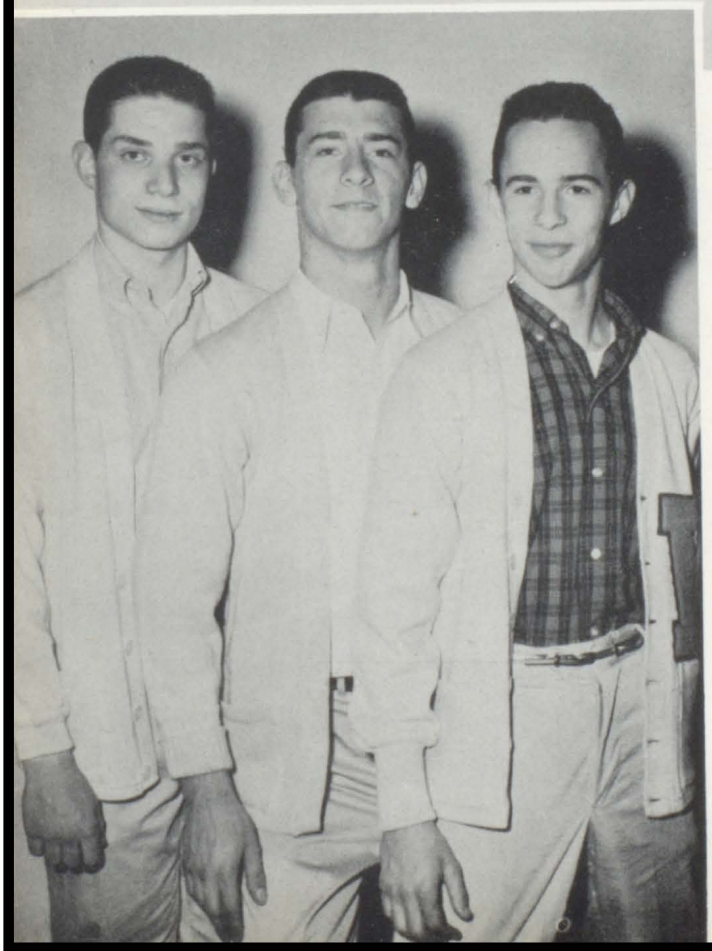

IRV MARCUS

SAM BALK

SWIMMING

Balk, Marcus, Singer

The Mermen, sparked by the fighting spirit of Coach Leo Pearl and co-captain Irv Marcus, won the 1958 City Championship at the 32nd Newark High School Swimming Meet, March 6, with a score of 68 points. The Indians smashed five records as they compiled a 40-point bulge over second place Arts High. Marcus swam the breast stroke leg, and Howard Singer, the freestyle leg, for the record-breaking 160-meters medley relay team. Marcus also anchored the freestyle relay team, which lowered the city record to 1:36.2. Singer registered a fifth in the 200-meters freestyle event.

In dual meet competition, the Indians went undefeated in twelve contests to take the unofficial city dual meet title. The season's victories brought the team's undefeated skein to 31 over the past three seasons. Sam Balk, a four year veteran, scored important points in the backstroke for the natators.

In the State Swimming Championships held at Princeton, March 8, 1958, co-captain Marcus placed seventh in the 100-yard breast stroke. Marcus was also a member of the seventh placing 200-yard medley relay team.

Robert Schreiber, Myron Weinstein, and Gary Barna, though not on this year's team, were valuable members of the team in previous seasons.
